Home Show is a 'hit'

90 booths attract thousands

Special guests during the three-day event included Fredbird the Redbird Sunday afternoon, WLL radio Disc Jockey Charlie O'Neil Saturday afternoon and professional wrestler Kerry Von Erich Saturday evening, with ring announcer Larry Matsysk. Von Erich was greeted by a large and enthusiastic group of young wrestling fans and he remained at the Home Show for approximately one hour.

greeting the fans and signing autographs. Attractions of the show ranged from a satellite dish which intercepted signals from the various communications satellites in space to practical demonstrations of energy saving devices, furniture, home furnishings, home entertainment systems and computer games.

Visitors ranged in age from infants to senior citizens. In addition to displays, many booths offered prizes to lucky visitors and balloons promoting various businesses were plentiful. Food and soft drinks also were available in the rink concession stand and on the new Pepsi Challenge dual-decker bus.

The crowds exceeded the expectations of even some organizers and (Continued on Page 6)

Bingo boom worries Ill. panel

(First of three articles)
By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record
Bingo in Illinois is not the children's game it grew from. Nor is it simply a way to provide both social time for the elderly and dollars for charity.

Nationally, $4.2 billion is spent playing bingo every year. Statewide, licenses total 1,560, including 580 fraternal, 500 religious and educational, 448 veterans, 20 labor, 10 youth athletic and five senior citizen groups.

How is the state-monitored program, the topic because thousands of people participate in the games each week. Two Madison County centers, one on N. Main St. and one on Collinsville Road, are tied for the sixth busiest sites in the state.

established in 1971, functioning in Illinois? The 134-page report prepared for the commission says much benefit money has been raised, as predicted, and a lot of enjoyment has been derived by the players, but problems have developed.

The investigating group believes that, in many instances, the bingo climate today is far removed from that envisioned by the Illinois senators and (Continued on Page 6)

Unrest over Brandon Heights settlement

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Some tempers flared Wednesday when the approximately a dozen homeowners from the Brandon Heights subdivision were told how much money might be available to either divide amongst themselves or be used to install new sewer lines, rendering "dead" the displaced sewer lines now on their property.

In dispute is not only the amount offered — the $50,122 some residents consider too low and which all must agree on for the funds to be distributed on an individual basis.

Residents also are angry that the sum would only finance placement of a new line to connect them to the sewer system and does not consider removing the offending line running through some yards, too close to their houses.

The homeowners had filed suit against the county, saying that the improperly placed sewer line made it impossible to dig swimming pools in their back yards or make other improvements. The displaced line was first brought to public attention by a Press-Record article before the suit was filed.

According to Morris Miles, chairman of the Madison County Special Sewer Committee, the residents who successfully brought the issue to court have been given a week to go home and come back with a mutually agreed upon plan of action.

This advice comes to them after they have already won a court decision, which forced the district to seek bids to install new sewer lines in the Brandon Heights area.

The lowest acceptable bid establishes a figure which the homeowners may choose to divide or let the sewer district use to put in the new sewer line on the proper easement.

Miles said the improper line in contention and now in use is a 24-inch main pipe placed through the yards of some homeowners. The bid for installation of a correctly-placed line makes no provision for removal of the incorrectly placed line.

The bid from L&W Construction of Collinsville to circumvent that line and place another line within the proper easement now is being studied by Assistant State's Attorney Zeke Smith and the sewer office.

One homeowner became so agitated at one point during the discussion between residents and the committee that a county deputy sheriff was called. According to Miles, no action, however, had to be taken by the deputy.

"They couldn't come to a decision," Miles said.

He said the committee is giving the Brandon Heights residents a week "to sit down...to get together with themselves," hopefully arriving at a united decision.

The viewpoint of the committee, according to the chairman, is that if residents do not reach an agreement amongst themselves on the settlement, the committee will begin plans to put in the new line.

New ideas in home finance

Home financing in these times of high interest rates has taken several new and inventive twists, local financial officials say. While the interest rates make some conventional financing methods unpractical, particularly for the first-time home buyer, there are some options.

Following are suggestions by two local businessmen in the home financing and sales fields for persons interested in home loans. Realtor Carl Hoffman offers examples of financing without the benefit of government assistance and Ed Reimager, newly affiliated broker with The Milliken Mortgage Co., discusses new options under the Veterans' Administration (VA) and Federal Housing Administration (FHA) loan programs. Both have been in the home financing industry in the Quad-City area for many years.

By ED REIMAGER

More realtors and builders are suggesting to their purchasers to seek loans guaranteed or insured by the government through VA and FHA financing.

Realtors know that today's buyers are tomorrow's sellers and, if favorable financing is arranged today, the job of disposing of the property tomorrow is easier.

Presently, a veteran can obtain financing up to $110,000.00 without a down payment. FHA requires a 3 percent down payment. FHA requires a 3 percent down payment and 5 percent of any additional amount exceeding $25,000.00 with a maximum loan of $25,000.00 (Continued on Page 4)

INTEREST RATES

CARL HOFFMAN

Real estate financing today, though difficult, particularly for the first time buyer, is not impossible.

Most lenders want to do business, but can't unless their terms are sufficient to offset the high interest rates they are paying for IRA accounts, money market certificates and 30-month certificates of deposit, as well as other high interest deposits.

To offset or upgrade many of their existing low interest loans, particularly those from 4 1/2 to 10 percent, they have become quite creative. For example:

Students await start of summer vacations

by DONNA KIMBERO
of the Press-Record

Quad-City students will begin summer vacations at various dates at the end of this month and the beginning of June, according to announcements by principals of parochial and private schools and area Board of Education superintendents.

The earliest dismissal date is for Central Baptist Christian Academy, 3940 Highway 11, with a half day session on Friday, May 21.

St. Elizabeth Catholic School, will hold its final day of full time classes on May 24 with the last half day session on May 27. Graduation for the eighth grade students will be at 6 p.m. on May 27.

St. Margaret Mary Catholic School, Sacred Heart-St. Joseph Catholic School, and the Metro-East Lutheran High School, all will dismiss session on Friday, May 28.

St. Margaret Mary will hold its last full day classes on May 27, with the exception of eighth grade pupils who will attend final classes on Wednesday, May 19. Graduation ceremonies are scheduled for 6 p.m. on Wednesday, May 26, and all other students will attend a half day session on May 28.

Sacred Heart-St. Joseph School will hold commencement exercises at 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 27, and the annual picnic is set for May 27 during the school hours. The final half day session is Friday, May 28.

GC unemployment reaches 16.5%

More bad news on the Granite City employment picture reached city officials Friday in the form of preliminary figures from the Illinois Department of Labor showing that Granite City's unemployment climbed more than a full percentage point to 16.5 percent in March.

The statistics show that one out of every six Granite City residents in the potential workforce are unsuccessfully seeking work.

Granite City's unemployment rate surpassed Belleville's for the first time this year, according to the March figures. Belleville's unemployment dropped from 18.5 percent in February to 14.9 percent in March while Granite City's unemployment climbed from 15.2 percent in February to 16.5 percent in March, according to R.L. Worden of the research and analysis section of the Department of Labor.

The March figures show that of 11,998 persons in the Granite City workforce, 3,128 were officially unemployed. The 16.5 percent rate here is much higher than the state average of 10.2 percent for March. It also is higher than the Madison County unemployment average of 11.6 percent in that month. April figures are not yet available.

Alton's unemployment in March was 12 percent and East St. Louis showed 11.8 percent of its residents

Postpone building of Heidtman Steel

Heidtman Steel, which received the approval of the Granite City Council last December of a preliminary resolution for the issuance of $10 million in industrial revenue bonds, has apparently decided to delay plans to build a new plant here.

Ralph Korte of Korte Construction Co. said Friday that his company, which had initially been contacted to build the new steel processing facility, has been informed the project has been "put on hold." No future date for the construction of the building has been set, he said.

In a city budget planning session last week, Alderman Warren Decatur said that it is his understanding that with the current low production of steel at the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corp., it would not be economically feasible to build the plant at this time.

Company spokesmen were unavailable for comment.

In a discussion with aldermen last year, Bob Deters, executive vice-president of Heidtman Steel, told the council that swift process of the bond resolution meant the plant could open operations as early as January, 1983.

Heidtman Steel, based in Bedford, Mich., had planned to open a steel pickling plant, which would have employed about 40 to 50 local workers.

Initially plans for the operation called for about 20,000 to 30,000 tons of steel per month to be chemically treated for the first three years, with the production capacity to double after that time period.

Workshop on problems confronting elderly

A workshop that confronts the problems of elderly abuse and neglect will be offered at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, tomorrow. Sponsored by the Office of Continuing Education, School of Nursing and the Gerontology Program at SIUE, the one-day workshop is scheduled in the Mississippi-Illinois Rooms of the University Center, beginning at 8:30 a.m. and extending until 4 p.m.

Instructors will be Doris Bell, assistant professor of nursing at SIUE; Doreen D. Dodson, managing attorney within the elderly law unit of Legal Services of Eastern Missouri; State Representative Josephine K. Oblinger (R-Sherman); John Poertner, assistant professor of child, family and community services at Sangamon State University.

and Sharon Wallace, director of the Seniorama-Multipurpose Senior Center and Services in Springfield. The workshop is designed to be of value to a large number of people in the community, including nursing professionals, physicians, psychologists, human services and social service personnel, lawyers, ministers, mental health professionals and students in the health and allied health fields.

Special emphasis of the programming will be placed on the role of the professional in identifying the problems of abuse and neglect and utilizing effective intervention strategies to deal with them. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the SIUE Office of Continuing Education at 1-692-3210.

Wetlands, wildlife goals at coal mine

A university research laboratory, a coal company and an agency of the state government are getting together to turn part of an abandoned coal mine into a swamp.

They plan to create an expanse of wet, grassy acreage—wildlife aficionados call such areas "wetlands"—out of what is now a 100-acre slurry pond at the Little John Mine in rural Knox County.

If the idea works, and mine reclamation experts from the SIUC Cooperative Wildlife Research Laboratory are confident it will, the one-time environmental eyesore will become a showcase home for ducks, giant Canada geese and other waterfowl.

The project also will be a testing ground for what the scientists see as an alternative to conventional solutions to some of the mining industry's most troublesome reclamation problems.

Jack R. Nawrot, SIUC wildlife researcher who will coordinate the university's work on the project, says wetlands reclamation gives the mining industry another way to deal with troublesome slurry ponds at coal-processing plants.

The ponds hold wash water used in processing while coal particles and other waste materials settle out.

Current state and federal standards for reclamation of slurry ponds generally require the ponds to be covered with four feet of soil and planted with vegetation. It's a difficult and expensive process that may not be the best way to handle the problem, Nawrot believes. "These areas are generally unstable, and that means you can't use regular heavy equipment to do a lot of the earthmoving."

"In a lot of cases, you'd end up disturbing the environment again somewhere nearby just to get the soil to cover it with."

Planting wetland greenery works best when done by hand, he said, and the plants generally don't need additional soil cover to survive.

Creating new wetlands also helps replace some of the millions of acres of wetlands lost every year to urban expansion and real estate development. And it provides shelter for many species of wildlife which depend on such environments, he adds.

"It could turn what's now a wasteland into one of the most productive ecosystems on earth," said Nawrot.

The work will be an extension of a three-year, $100,000 reclamation experiment at a Monterey mine near Carlinville in Macoupin County.

That project used a hardy plant known as reedgrass to successfully revegetate the banks and bed of a slurry pond without first covering the wastes with soil.

Reedgrass grows naturally in much of North America and flourishes in surroundings that range from the Egyptian desert to the Antarctic.

Researchers plan to plant reedgrass and several other species of wetland plants on the Little John impoundment. Eventually, they say, that pond will be flourishing with a variety of plants and wildlife.

SIUC's wildlife research unit has been investigating the relationship between mined-land reclamation and wildlife habitat for 35 years, beginning with reclamation work on what is now Pyramid State Park near Pinckneyville.

North student named Presidential Scholar

Beverly J. Tester, a student at Granite City High School North, has been designated a Presidential Scholar, beginning fall quarter, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The announcement was made by Earl Larsonson, president of the university. Miss Tester will be one of a class of 20 new Presidential Scholars who will receive the prestigious four-year scholarships.

The award winners will receive monetary assistance, special academic status and individualized educational opportunities.

They were selected on the basis of their previous academic work and special talents and abilities.

The scholars will be welcomed to campus at a get-acquainted luncheon with the president and student mentors on May 26 at the University Center.

Launched in 1978, the Presidential Scholars Program has made it possible for 20 students to be selected each year to receive the special four-year monetary and academic awards. The program is underwritten by contributions to the SIUE Foundation.

Miss Tester resides at 4028 Vesel Ave.

Kimball honored for research and book on Mormons

Stanley B. Kimball, professor of historical studies at SIUE, has received the annual award for the best book written about Mormon history. The recognition was given to the SIUE researcher and teacher for his book, "Heber C. Kimball: Mormon Patriarch and Pioneer," published last year by the University of Illinois Press.

The award was presented to Kimball, a great-grandson and historian of the Mormon Pioneer Trail Foundation, at the Mormon History Association's annual meeting this month on the campus of Weber State College in Ogden, Utah.

The association fosters scholarly research and publication in the field of Mormon history and promotes fellowship and communications between students interested in the field. Heber C. Kimball was the church's most colorful leader, Professor Kimball said, third in stature after Joseph Smith and Brigham Young.

The book details how the elder Kimball lived—making his way in the world, going abroad; fulfilling eight missions; fleeing persecution; crossing the plains; hunting buffalo; dealing with Indians; amassing wives, children, lands, cattle and property; building the church; holding political office; assailing his enemies; and suffering both domestically and physically.

The author's research and writing took nearly a full decade, leading him to every region connected with Heber Kimball's life and gaining him complete access to all church, public and private sources relating to the Mormon leader.

Some of the major sources for information included all of Kimball's own papers and speeches; hundreds of the family papers in collections; other church, state, national, Masonic, British and private archival materials; newspapers, magazines, journals, theses and other materials.

To acquire a feeling of closeness with his great-grandfather, Stanley Kimball visited every area connected with the Mormon leader's life and even followed the trails he used from Ohio to the Great Basin in Utah.

FOOD PRESERVATION COURSE AT COLLEGE

Food Preservation, offered by Belleville Area College for the summer semester, will cover the why and how of preserving food safely.

The four-week course will deal with latest techniques of canning and freezing food, including both pressure cooker and hot water bath techniques. In addition to preservation of fruits and vegetables, students will learn how to make jams, jellies and relishes.

The class will meet from 6 to 9:50 p.m. Mondays at Belleville East High School beginning June 7. Tuition is $8.50.

BUILDING IS LOOTED

Breaking glass from window, a burglar stole two stainless steel sinks with faucets, valued at $200, plus a set of cabinets and 160 ceiling tiles, each 62 feet. It was discovered last week at a building at 1412 Madison Ave. owned by Clyde Merz. Apartments there were being remodeled.

Stevens, owner of the new market, his wife, Linda, and their son Jason, and Lacey Randolph, also a Chamber representative. In the back row are Marsha and Earl Buenger, owners of O'Brien Tire, a neighboring business. The original Farmer's Market is at Nameoki Road and East 23rd Street.

The new shop is open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

"Both types of financing offer features that no other loan program offers: such as, no down payment (VA) or minimal down payment (GPM), comparatively low interest rates, 30-year term, fixed rate and fixed term, no due on sale clause (the loan is assumable with no interest rate adjustment) and there is no prepayment penalty."

"This all sounds too good to be true, doesn't it. Well, believe it or not, there are skeptics that cry that this type of loan takes too long to process, or the seller primarily pays points, or no lender will provide this type of financing. In rebuttal to these arguments, most loans are processed in less than 30 days. Points have been as low as three recently, which is the amount generally charged on conventional financing, and there are several mortgage bankers in the area eager to provide this type of financing."

"Most of the time, this type of financing will appeal to the young, first home buyer, because of the small acquisition costs. However, mortgage bankers have noted an increase in applications where substantial down payments are being paid. It is presumed that some purchasers are reluctant to purchase under a mortgage instrument that provides a fluctuation of interest rates depending on the economy and opt for a known factor as to what their payment will be in the future. Also, if they are subject to being transferred in their employment, selling their property through loan assumptions have been proven attractive to prospective purchasers."

"There are more veterans eligible for VA financing than ever before. If veterans have not previously obtained VA financing in the past, in all likelyhood they can secure their second and even third loan. Also, all veterans are eligible from World War II to the present time. To check your status, contact any realtor and he can readily assist you."

CONVENTIONAL FINANCING
In the real world, we have become numbers rather than names, for identification purposes. In the financial world, the various mortgage loan programs have acquired an identity by initials, rather than names. Realtors and builders may use terms such as FNMA, GNMA, ARM, GPM, and others, all of which play an important part in the financing of homes.

Also, there are new loans such as "buydowns" and "negative amortization" loans. Old loans such as fixed rate, fixed term and collateral pledge loans still are being offered.

FNMA (Federal National Mortgage Association) was a government agency, but now is a privately owned corporation that purchases loans from lenders in the secondary market. FNMA lenders will sell government-backed loans (VA and FHA) to this agency; however, it is one of few outlets that offer a fixed rate and fixed term conventional loan. The interest rate currently is 16 percent to 16 1/2 percent with 30-year terms available. At least a 5-year term is required. If the loan-to-value ratio is greater than 80 percent, lenders will require private mortgage insurance to be written to lessen their risk factor.

ARM (Adjustable Rate Mortgage) is a popular loan being offered by many lenders. As the cost of money increases or decreases, the interest rate is adjusted accordingly. Interest rate may vary with only one year and also require private mortgage insurance to be written if the loan exceeds 80 percent of the value of the home.

GPM (Graduated Payment Program) is another form of a buydown loan. The purchaser pays a larger down payment than normally required and the excess down payment is used to reduce the monthly payment. It is attractive to the home purchaser that wants to purchase a home that ordinarily would be out of his reach or the purchaser that desires a smaller monthly payment initially. This plan normally will increase proportionately to his future higher house payment.

Negative Amortization Loans are new and not available in Illinois, but soon will be. The interest rate is pegged to the cost of Treasury Bills or other price indexes. The monthly payment is increased or decreased accordingly, sometimes causing the balance of the loan to increase, thus causing a negative amortization. Once a loan is in this state, it can be vital to the housing industry in that the initial interest rate is several percentage points under the prevailing rate of interest.

The feeling among realtors and builders is that if the value of homes continues to increase, this will offset any increase in loan balances through negative amortization.

Most realtors have endorsed the "wrap" or "roll-over" loans being offered by the various lenders. Many financial institutions are offering below interest rate loans to new purchasers if they presently hold the mortgage on the property. This helps the purchaser to obtain more favorable financing and will assist the lender to upgrade his loan portfolio.

Check with your realtor and he will assist you in arranging the best financing for you.

Hoffman

existing mortgage at 7 1/2 percent interest with a time period of 15 years left on the books. This loan is currently carried on the books of the XYZ Company.

"A new buyer wants to purchase the property for $25,000 and has 20 percent down or $5,000 and will need a $20,000 loan. XYZ Company will loan the $20,000 in the following manner:

"The $10,000 existing loan will be converted into a new loan at 12 percent. The additional $10,000 will be loaned at an additional one-fourth of a percent per $5,000, or an additional one-half percent, making the total interest rate on the new loan 13 percent, which in today's fluctuating times is a reasonable rate."

The problem presented to the first-time buyer is that he needs to save a little more money and pay a larger monthly payment than he would have in "the good old days." But, examine the facts for a moment.

Interest rates were 7 percent, average hourly wage for a factory worker was $1.75 to $2 per hour. Today, an interest rate of 13 percent and an hourly rate of $8 is near the average. The interest rate today is twice as high as yesterday.

Housing is still the very best buy going in today's business world. This type of financing is only one of several types of creative financing available for those who apply the thought process. Among others are loan assumptions, contract for deed, FHA and VA loans.

Conventional financing, variable rate mortgages, adjustable rate mortgages, equity sharing mortgages and second mortgages, roll-over and balloon mortgages all are available. The terminology need not be confusing, but so many plans coming forward at once take a little getting accustomed to hearing and some effort must be put forth to understand them.

Bear in mind, your realtor can and will be able to help you buy or sell this unusual market and his knowledge of the phases of financing will enable him to select which plan is best for you, according to your needs. Real Estate is still your best buy.

School, 1001 Center Grove Road, Edwardsville will dismiss senior students on May 28, and other students will attend the last final day of classes on June 2.

St. Mary-St. Charles Schools will hold graduation ceremonies at 6 p.m. on June 3 at St. Mary Roman Catholic Church in Madison, and the dismissal for the summer will follow at 8 a.m. on June 4.

Those students attending Venice public schools will report for a half day session on June 4. The eighth grade graduation will be held during the day and the high school commencement exercises will be in the evening of June 4.

An awards assembly is set for June 3 for eighth graders attending Madison schools and the high school graduation ceremony is set for 7:30 p.m. June 4. The last half day session will be on June 4.

Granite City public schools will hold their final full day of classes on June 3 and half day session on June 4.

Both North and South High Schools will dismiss for the summer after dismissal at 9:10 a.m. on June 4, the elementary schools will hold sessions until 10:30 a.m. and junior high schools will begin the summer vacation at 11 a.m. on June 4.

Graduation exercises will be held on June 3 for seniors at South High School and on June 4 for graduating seniors at North High School.

GC unemployment

out of work, Worden reported. Granite City is not alone in high unemployment. In Calhoun County, the average unemployment rate is 21.1 percent in March — and that was an improvement from the 23.3 percent in February.

Jersey County followed with 15.2

percent unemployed in March; Clinton County recorded 12.7 percent, Bond County 12 percent and Madison County 11.6 percent. Monroe County showed the lowest unemployment rate in the local six-county area with 9.1 percent.

Statewide figures show that of 5,331,000 eligible workers in Illinois, 565,000 were unemployed in March, or 10.2 percent, Worden noted. In Madison County, 14,013 persons were seeking work and the total work force was pegged at 120,574 in March.

Bowling money was not taken to award dinner

Mrs. Janet Turner, 28, of the Parktowne West mobile home court was charged Thursday with making a false report to Granite City police. She was released on $25 bail.

The report had told of the alleged theft of Bowletts bowling league prize money immediately prior to the 30-bowler league's season-ending award banquet.

Mrs. Turner initially said she put $1,240 into envelopes on a table that also displayed trophies recognizing 1981-82 bowling achievements.

In charging that a false report was made, authorities contend that the money never was taken to the banquet location, Ravennell's restaurant.

One torn, empty envelope had been found.

The woman, an officer of the league, later provided $500 which police turned over to other representatives of the league for appointment among the bowlers.

Such funds are built up during the winter season for springtime distribution among a league's participants.

With the partial distribution of the cash awards, league officials have declined to file a charge. Restitution of remaining funds has been promised.

LIGHT HEARTED ARRIVAL at the Granite City Police Department for Captain Francis J. "Mac" McManus, who gets special treatment his final day on the job prior to retirement, including transportation from home in the senior citizens' CHORBUS. He is being assisted by township employees, Joe Barbieri, left, and Al Klarich. Waiting in the wings to push him into the building are Marian Hennrich, left, and Nadine Harrison, police department co-workers and friends of the veteran officer.

Police force loses veteran Capt. 'Mac'

By VALERIE EVENDEN

of the Press-Record
"Mac's sense of humor is pretty dry, but if you press any right line his face really lights up."

A colleague of Police Captain Francis J. "Mac" McManus offered that observation last week upon the latter's retirement from the Granite City Police Department.

The veteran police officer, who usually keeps his lighter side well in check, was a bundle of smiles when his family, friends and fellow officers gathered at the Granite City Elks Lodge to celebrate with him and wish him well.

"...His smile went from ear to ear. He was very pleased and happy," Police Chief Ronald S. Velzer commented, speaking of Mac's response to surprise that awaited him at his retirement party.

A native of Jacksonville, Ill., McManus has been with the Granite City police force for the past 32 years and, although always quick to acknowledge his ties with Jacksonville, he now considers this community "home."

"We have a nice size travel-trailer and we like to do quite a bit of traveling around," he said about his future plans.

"But, we're going to keep the house (on East 27th Street) and will be returning here during the summer. I made my money in Granite City and I intend to spend it here," he said regarding his future plans.

When Mac uses the term "we" he is speaking of himself and his new bride, the former Mrs. Wilcox. The couple was married last New Year's Eve.

His first wife, Josephine, died in June 5, 1976, following a lengthy illness.

A son of the late Thomas and Mary McManus of Jacksonville, Ill., the retired police captain's family still resides in his hometown area.

Coming here for his "official" retirement party at the Elks Lodge were his brother, James "Dude" McManus, and sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Long, and their families, all from Jacksonville, another sister, Mrs. Mary Niffinger from Hopeville, near Bloomington, Ill., and a nephew, Illinois State Trooper Mike Mathews, who is assigned to the staff of Governor James R. Thompson in Springfield.

Upon being hired into the police department on Feb. 1, 1950, McManus received badge number 15. "I'm not sure why 15, because there were 17 department members," he said.

At the present time, the Granite City department has a 52-member force. He's seen vast changes in law enforcement—improved communications, new statutes and court rulings, plus revolutionary technological advances, resulting in substantially better equipment.

Basic police work, however, remains the same and experience still is a great teacher, he said.

And, experience is Mac's middle name. He was promoted to sergeant May 1, 1963, and to lieutenant Aug. 1, 1967. He became chief of detectives July 15, 1971, and was promoted to captain Feb. 5, 1974, taking over the police service division.

Mac, now 65, has received numerous commendations during his career and has been cited many years for perfect attendance and his punctuality.

He served for 25 years as president of the Granite City Employees' Credit Union and presently is on the credit union board of directors.

Prior to joining the police department, Mac served with the U.S. Army Medical Corps from 1942 until 1946.

At his formal retirement party when the champagne flowed and a variety of food was consumed in vast quantities by what appeared to be the entire off-duty police force, plus city officials, aldermen and many, many friends, Mac was presented several gifts, including a gold pocket watch and penknife on a gold chain from the department.

In related activities, he also was honored at an informal party at City Hall and cakes (many) and coffee were served to well-wishers at police headquarters.

"I realize there are many who can and do retire without a backward glance. But, I am doing so with mixed emotion and a touch of regret," Mac said.

"The routine that has shaped my life for so many years will be missed. Good friends and acquaintances gathered around a career that has spanned more than a quarter-century cannot be lightly set aside. They, too, will be missed. "And, yet, after 32 years of active duty with the department and to the community, it is my desire to devote more time and attention to my family and the pursuit of travel interests," he stated.

Mac's final day on the job started in style. He was picked up at home by the Granite City Township senior citizens' CHORBUS and was lowered from the vehicle in a wheelchair at the front door of police headquarters by township employees, Al Klarich and Joe Barbieri.

At that point, he was pushed into the building by Nadine Harrison, secretary to Police Chief Velzer, and Marian Hennrich, records secretary.

Mac's wife and several friends were on hand for his arrival, which was accompanied amid hoots and hollers and a great deal of laughter.

"This doesn't mean I'm ready for a wheelchair," he joked as he came through the door.

Knowing Mac, he's definitely not planning a wheelchair retirement.

MAN HURT IN FALL

FROM BACK OF TRUCK
A man riding in the back of a pickup truck to hold furniture that was being moved fell out of the vehicle at 1:35 p.m. Thursday as it turned from an eastbound lane of West Pontoon Road to go south on Missouri Avenue.

Injured extensively, Dennis Peters, 30, of the 2000 block of Bryan Avenue landed face down on the pavement and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth's Medical Center. The truck was driven by James E. Miller, 2234 Missouri; he and another occupant of the back of the truck, Ron Gibson, 322 Wilson Park Lane, were unhurt.

Glass windows to replace plastic scratched on buses

The Bi-State Development Agency Board of Commissioners has awarded contracts for glass replacement windows on 378 buses. Tayloe Glass of St. Louis and Consumer Glass of St. Charles were the low bidders on the $179,000 project.

Michael Setzer, Bi-State's general manager of transit, pointed out the beneficial effect the new windows will have both for riders and for passers-by. He said, "For the passengers, it is a much more secure feeling and more enjoyable to be able to see clearly where you are and what's going on outside. With many of our older buses, the scratched plastic windows prevent this. For the passer-by, it is disconcerting not to be able to see who is on the bus, and gives the impression that the bus is dirty when in fact our buses are washed and cleaned every night."

According to Paul Hampton, Bi-State's manager of maintenance, the windows need to be replaced because,

"over the years, general wear and tear and the action of the bus washers have scratched the plastic window surfaces to the point that it is difficult to see through them."

Funds for the window replacement program are 80 percent paid by the Urban Mass Transit Administration with federal capital funds and the remainder is locally funded. The federal grant also includes funds for the cost of the labor.

The 171 new buses that Bi-State received this year all have glass windows. With the replacement program sometime in the fall of 1983, the vast majority of Bi-State's buses will have glass windows.

Ways to guard credit rating

By CATHERINE MAUCK
County Homemaking Adviser

With more and more people out of work or working reduced hours, the number of late bill payments is increasing. Prompt action—before bills are overdue—may help save your credit rating.

Falling to take steps to protect your credit rating can have a number of impacts on your financial future.

A bad credit rating can make it difficult to get a loan for such purchases as a house or a car and to get or maintain credit cards, which often are needed to make hotel reservations or to rent a car.

It is always a good practice to contact lenders before debts become delinquent and let them know why you are unable to make payment. The following suggestions for protecting your credit rating and getting out of debt are worthy of note.

1. Notify your creditors at once. Remember that the creditor's main concern is getting his money, so he usually will be receptive to discussing ways to ease your bill-paying problems. An explanation from you may stop a creditor from listing you as a bad credit risk.

2. You may be able to get a loan extension, although the lender may require a fee for doing so and perhaps even an extra charge for each month the loan is extended. However, such an arrangement will give you additional time to make payments.

3. If you must miss payments to more than one creditor, try to meet with all within one or two days to establish plans for repaying your debts. Such scheduling can help you avoid promising more than you can pay to each creditor.

4. Know your present financial status before contacting creditors. Know how much money you have coming in, how many expenses you have, how much money you owe, and the amount you pay monthly on each bill. Start keeping good records of your expenses. Such records can help you determine how much you can pay any one creditor without shortchanging another.

5. Don't make any more credit purchases until you are out of debt and no longer have difficulties paying current bills. That may seem obvious, but you'd be surprised at the number of people who spend money to make themselves feel better about money problems.

Many credit counselors cut up the credit cards of clients seeking help with bill-paying problems to eliminate their temptation to make credit purchases.

6. Finally, get all agreements concerning changes in your normal payment schedules put down in writing. If you make a telephone contact to arrange such a change, record the name of the person you spoke with and the details of the conversation for future reference.

ARREST AFTER CRASH

George S. Keelin, 28, of 2521 Northbridge was charged with passing a stop sign last week. A collision had damaged the right side of his eastbound pickup truck and the front of a city-owned car being driven north on Iowa Street by Police Chief Ronald Veizer.

PARK PASTIMES

By the Staff of the Granite City Park District

This section is designed to bring the reader the latest information on happenings occurring at the Granite City Park District.

At this time, those spectators who enjoy watching softball can do so every night of the week at one of three lighted diamonds—West Granite, Worthen or Wilson Park Diamond Eight—more than 100 teams, including men's slow or fast pitch or women's, church, or 35 and over leagues.

Baseball season is, of course, underway and many good games can be seen on any of the seven baseball diamonds Mondays through Fridays. There just may be a new superstar out there to see in the boys' leagues.

Tennis courts at Wilson Park may be reserved evenings from 5 to 10 p.m. weekdays. Reservations are for one hour only and may only be made by showing a valid Park District I.D. card.

Shelter reservations may be made during normal office hours. There is no charge and is for park residents only. No reservations are taken for Memorial Day, July 4th and Labor Day.

The summer program is being prepared currently and will be ready for distribution by the end of May. Copies may be picked up at the park office or other public office buildings at that time.

Park officials are asking all users to make note of the rules and regulations that govern all parks and facilities of the Granite City Park District.

1. Dogs and cars must be leashed while in park.
2. No riding of horses, ponies or other animals in the park.
3. No soliciting.
4. No camping.
5. Parks are closed after 10 p.m.
6. No dumping.
7. No alcoholic beverages permitted in parks.
8. No narcotic drugs.
9. Groups of 20 or more are required to have permits to picnic in parks.
10. While utilizing the facilities, all rules and regulations of those facilities must be followed.
11. No unauthorized vehicles are allowed in the parks.

All of these and others fall under Park Ordinance Number 181 and will be strictly enforced. Officials are asking for the cooperation and help of the public to enforce these for good, clean, responsible parks.

Johnson Road zoning in dispute

A parcel of property which already has been the subject of a zoning court battle is again a source of contention between the Granite City Planning Commission and Realtor John Krekovich.

Thursday, commissioners unanimously voted to seek the opinion of Board Attorney Robert Hennessey in order to determine Krekovich's right in continuing to display a sign advertising a lot on Johnson Road as a commercial property.

Three years ago, Krekovich took the city to court in an effort to obtain commercial zoning status for the residential site after a similar appeal was rejected by both the Planning Commission and the Granite City Council.

A Madison County civil court judge declared the property, which is represented by Krekovich Realtors but not owned by his company, entitled to a commercial rating.

Last year, Building Inspector Michael DeRuntz said, a building on the lot was torn down upon his request for safety and health purposes.

According to DeRuntz, the city zoning ordinance requires that within six months of a zoning change, an improvement be made on the site relating to the new zoning status.

Acting on the assumption that the six months have expired without a change, the Planning Commission requested DeRuntz three months ago to get Krekovich to remove a sign on the site which advertises the property as commercially viable.

The issue resurfaced April 27 when Krekovich appeared before the Granite City Council and related the Planning Commission's request. At the same time, that he told aldermen he would neither apologize or explain remarks he made last November, alleging there had been past irregularities in granting zoning permits.

At the April meeting, Alderman Sam Whitmer, who had spearheaded the demand that Krekovich explain his earlier remarks, had asked Krekovich if he was inferring the city was using pressure tactics.

Reacting to Krekovich's latest comments on the subject, the Planning Commission decided to seek the advice of its attorney on the zoning status of the site.

The zoning "gray area" involved is the difference between the court's decision and the requirements of the city's six-month improvement requirement, DeRuntz said.

DeRuntz noted, he contacted Krekovich three months ago about removing the sign, as he was directed by the board, and was told by Krekovich to contact his attorney.

"As far as we're concerned, its reverted back to residential," Barry Loman, a member of the Planning Commission, said Thursday.

In the meantime, any potential buyer of the Johnson Road property will be able to obtain a building permit.

Hundreds of visitors to the Press-Record booth were given a brief demonstration of how stories are written on video display terminals, how the "type" comes out of high speed typesetting machines and how the newspaper's pages are laid out, photographed and burned onto plates for the offset press.

Several speakers also had the opportunity to meet Press-Record writers and discuss career opportunities and training necessary for newspaper work.

The investigation struck closer to home with its references to horse race bet messenger services. Enterprises of this type once sought to get a foothold in Madison and St. Clair counties, including offices within the Quad-City community.

The commission members say, "The number of figures bingo has inherited from race track messenger services indicates to us the potential for abuse. It is apparently inherent in the nature of the gambling business."

"This crosses also indicates to us the great need for strict enforcement of the bingo laws."

The commission found that the Revenue Department's role in the creation of "Illinois' bingo situation" was complex and "totally blameless."

The department's high degree of voluntary cooperation with the investigation in recent months convinced the commission majority that "DOR is aware of its imperfections and is interested in improving its performance."

The commission continued, "Nevertheless, the 11 years of DOR hesitancy to enforce bingo, its total relaxation of abuse-prevention efforts for three years, a pervasive taxation-perception conflict, and a lack of departmental unity with regard to bingo have caused the growth of many of the current problems."

"For instance, the licensing of some questionable groups is not a function of the definitions of licensable groups, as written, but rather a function of DOR's insufficient screening of applicants."

Its reasons for these deficiencies are understandable: given the almost negligible amount of revenue that bingo produces compared with other taxes, the low dollar recovered per audit-hour and the ill-preparedness to take on a tax with such an emphasis on regulatory duties, DOR has had to make priorities. Bingo falls low on the list.

"Given the recent, more permissive amendments, concurrent with DOR's attempts to apply stricter rules, it is little wonder that the department has felt it not expected to get 'tough' with licensees."

Change is on the way within the department. The new bingo administrator should provide the authority and unity needed to coordinate the bingo program.

"Personnel detailed to DOR from the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement, are evidently emphasizing enforcement in DOR's investigations division."

"A schedule for random site visits has been implemented, and computerization and new reporting requirements should enhance information flow and relevancy."

Other sites also recently have found ways to combat some of these problems.

"Limitations on frequency of play at any one location, on renting of privately-owned premises, and on the number of licensable affiliates—such limitations could directly address aspects of the bingo industry which Illinois is concerned."

"Provisions for enough manpower to adequately police the industry, more frequent reporting requirements, and more specific licensable categories may all contribute to cleaner, more lawful conduct of the 'bingo,' the panel told legislators."

HOUSE IS DESTROYED
A fire reported at 6:10 a.m. Saturday at 4152 Kaseberg Lane, Fontana Beach, was believed to have been started, by faulty wiring, according to a Long Lake Fire Department spokesman, who estimated damage at $10,000 to the property and $2,000 to the contents.

The house is owned by Richard Hanson, 2616 Hemlock Ave. The Hansons and their relatives have been the victims of two previous firebombings, but no evidence of arson was found at Saturday's fire scene.

Firemen said that although there were some furnishings inside the burned house there were no occupants at the time of the fire. The owners said renters had planned to move in during the weekend.

Firemen used two pumps, an emergency truck, 22 firemen and three junior firemen answered the call and were at the scene for two hours. A fire department spokesman said the fire was well under control when they received the call and the house was severely gutted.

Indian skit highlight of Pack 13 banquet

Pack 13 Cub Scouts of St. Elizabeth entertained their parents and friends with an Indian skit at their annual blue and gold banquet. The banquet was held at St. Elizabeth's cafeteria, which was elegantly decorated with an Indian theme. A life-size teepee at one corner dominated the scene. Large totem poles constructed and decorated by the den, were at another corner with two real-looking campfires in the center. The dinner tables surrounded the outer edge of the scene.

Two displayed advancement charts, decorated Indian vests, headbands, tomahawks and newsmakers, all of which were made at their den meetings.

Four displayed advancement charts, decorated Indian shields, tomahawks, Indian dolls, puppets and airplanes, made at den meetings.

The evening festivities began with a welcome by St. Elizabeth's pastor, Father Thomas, and Mrs. Mary. Mrs. Ray Lippman, scout religious coordinator, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Gaudette, unit commissioner, Mark Yehling, scoutmaster, and Mr. and Mrs. Markovitch, assistant pastor of St. Elizabeth's Church.

The tables were decorated with fresh blue and yellow carnations, and mothers of all the cub scouts received a corsage.

Rev. Markovitch gave a prayer before the dinner. Prizes consisting of two fresh bread baskets were given to the Jackson and York families.

A colorful skit followed, it was a tale of Akela, Chief of the Webelos. The story was narrated by Phil Slover, Den Two Webelos leader.

All 20 of the cubs participated. They were dressed in their hand-crafted vests and headbands, carrying tomahawks, shields and belts tied to wrists. Their faces were made up in Indian fashion. Each den performed a part of the story in mime while an Indian recording played in the background. Each den danced in the life of Akela. As the dance and story unfolded, Chief Akela arrived on the scene in full Indian costume, accompanied by Joe Thomas, cubmaster, and he danced to complete the story.

The awards were then presented for the February pinewood derby. George Friedel, coordinator, thanked all those who participated and helped with the evening event. He presented participation ribbons to: Sean Hay, Stanley Kromray, Stanley Gregory, Jason Scrum and David Mills of Den one; Todd Smith, Jerry Thompson, Richard Schaus, Eric Slover, Stephen Uram, Stephen Friedel, Brian Bjorkman, Eric Achenbach, Cass Chomko and Charles Hackethal of Den two; Joey Schreck, Bryan Neidhardt, Robert Hutson, Kris Banks, Jeff Thompson, Jimmy

Funding for anti-drug group

The outlook for financing the drug-fighting Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois (MEGSI) brightened Thursday. Governor James R. Thompson said he now supports legislation to allow the state government to temporarily fund eight undercover narcotics investigation agencies, including those here and in Carbondale. In March he had sought to eliminate them from the budget.

His new stand calls for the state to allocate $1.3 million, including $200,000 for MEGSI. Spending for the agencies in this fiscal year ending June 30 is estimated at $1.1 million.

Alton Police Chief Rudy Sowders Jr., MEGSI board chairman, had warned that loss of state funding probably would cause the anti-drug unit to be disbanded. Its goals include curbing drug abuse and thwarting drug distributors.

Thompson says he wants to have the money taken from the general revenue fund for the 1982-83 fiscal year starting July 1, on the assumption that the state would be able to provide for the unit through legislation that is pending in the General Assembly.

The House legislation would allow law enforcement personnel to seize property and bank accounts owned by drug dealers if they were obtained through profits from illegal drug sales. The governor commented that this may provide adequate revenue to reimburse the general revenue fund. Any additional funds raised under such a law would be shared by drug enforcement groups and other law enforcement and prosecuting agencies involved in a drug dealer's conviction.

The change in his stand followed discussions between his staff, Attorney General Tyrone Fanner, Law Enforcement Director James Zegel and representatives of the anti-drug groups.

The current legislative package also would create a system of statewide grand juries, expanding the attorney general's powers to investigate drug activities that cross county boundaries.

The commission also has reversed its initial budget omissions of funds for the Illinois Visually Handicapped Institute in Chicago and for a program to provide hospital care for rape victims.

Cong. Price among dignitaries at Post 1300 anniversary event

Numerous federal and state governmental and VFW leaders were in Granite City Saturday night to honor the 50th anniversary of the program of Private Henry Ostendorf Post 1300, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The evening was opened by Commander Jim Chapman. Chaplain Fred Hoffman led 300 in attendance in a short prayer, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. A buffet dinner and U.S. two million" and stated that the quality of life young men and women we have in the armed services today is attributed to a pay raise, the unemployment rate and the strengthening of patriotism.

General Boverie was born March 20, 1932, in St. Louis, where he graduated from Christian Brothers High School in 1950. He then entered the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., graduating in 1954 with a bachelor of science degree and a commission in the U.S. Air Force.

He earned a master's degree in science degree in aeronautical and astronautical engineering and a master's degree in science degree in instrumentation engineering from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, in 1961, and a master's degree in science degree in business administration from the University of Washington in 1967.

He graduated from the Air Force Staff College at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., in 1967 and National War College at Fort Lesley McNair, Washington, D.C., in 1971.

General Boverie served at the White House as the National Security Council staff as a program analyst, from March 1974 to November 1975. He then became director of program analysis on the National Security Council staff.

General Boverie is married to the former Gudrun Elisabeth Wolf. They have a daughter, Mrs. James D. Hall. General Boverie's hometown is St. Louis.

Body found in river; victim had been shot

Venice Police officers pulled the body of an unidentified man, who had been shot once between the eyes, from the Mississippi River one-fourth of a mile north of the sand pit near Venice, Sunday.

Construction workers at the Union Electric Co. power plant in Venice spotted the body and called the police at 8:55 a.m. Sunday. The body was pulled from the water at about 10 a.m.

Madison County Deputy Coroner Richard Annett described the victim as a black man, about 6 feet tall, weighing about 175 to 180 pounds and in his late 20s to late 30s.

After an autopsy Sunday afternoon, Annett said the victim had been shot with a small-caliber weapon. The man's left ear was pierced and there was a gold earring with a ruby-colored stone in it. Also, there was a full gold cap on one of his teeth and the body was clad in a pair of shorts. Annett estimated the body had been in the water three weeks to a month.

Appeals Board passes permits

The Wednesday meeting of the Granite City Board of Appeals was held by phone. The board approved the members' schedule, according to Building Inspector Michael DeFuntis, secretary to the board.

Approved were the requests of John Mero, 2404 Glen Place, to construct a porch less than 20 feet from the front property line; Marcel Patton, 2421 Twenty Fifth St., to construct a garage less than three feet from the side property line; and James Turner, 306 Wilcox Park Lane, to construct a garage 10 feet from the front property line.

There were no objections on record. All five members approved the requests. They are Tony Michell, George Louis, Harriet Hoff, George Valicoff and Richard Kerch.

Recommend against mobile home park

The Madison County Board will be asked Wednesday to approve two Quadtown area zoning requests and to reject another.

The county's Zoning Board of Appeals is recommending that the county board deny a petition of Floyd Foreman Jr. and James D. Podner for rezoning of about 24 acres at Old Alton Road and Old Route 270 (the frontage road for Interstate 270) from R-3 single-family zoning to R-6 for a mobile or modular home park.

Receiving the zoning appeals board's endorsement, however, is a request from Larry Franko for a special use permit to establish a beauty shop at 124 Central Lane in Chouteau Township and to erect a sign for the business. Also receiving the board's endorsement is a request by Norman Thomas and Stephen W. McMahon for a special use permit to place a mobile home at 4919 Hills St. Chouteau Township. It is recommended that the permit be granted for up to two years and for the sole occupancy of McMahon.

News notes

The Madison County Board at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday will consider endorsing the development of a park for the handicapped, seeking bids on two new snow plows, establishing the position of special defender to aid the county's public defender, requiring prisoners to pay for the cost of maintaining them, authorizing a pay increase for the circuit clerk, enacting a resolution on county jail roof repairs, and ratifying a contract with Teamsters Local 525.

None of the Delta Queen's 187 passengers suffered injury Saturday night when the river excursion boat struck Den 22 at Saverton, Mo., during a two-day St. Louis to Hannibal voyage. A strong Mississippi River current was blamed for the collision. One crew member was hurt in the mishap, and two other persons were injured in an attempt to tow the damaged vessel early Sunday. A 384-foot gash was ripped in the wooden hull of the 55-year-old boat.

Madison County tax bills may be ready for mailing in late June or early July. The County Board will vote Wednesday on leasing for the county treasurer a sorter, stuffer and sealer for five months. Tentative property tax payment deadlines this year are Aug. 1 and Oct. 1.

A Chicago circuit judge has upheld withholding tax revenue from governmental agencies that fail to notify the public of hearings on tax increases.

Illinois Attorney General Tyrone Fanner opposes a statewide gun control proposal.

It elected as secretary of the Illinois Association of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgeons has petitioned the Federal Trade Commission to investigate advertising by certain practitioners who claim to perform non-surgical facelifts with a laser beam device.

NOW meeting here tonight

"Discrimination and the Women's Movement as They Relate to Black Women" will be the topic of the May meeting of the Metro-East Chapter of the National Organization for Women, here at 7 tonight.

There also will be an update on the current status of the Equal Rights Amendment.

Candidates seek Venice park post

Venice Park Board President George Tyus says four candidates have expressed an interest in replacing a former board member Jon Gardner, who retired April 8. The candidates will be discussed at the board's next meeting on June 10.

Options for the Venice Park annual recreation program, June 14 to Aug. 8, were considered. The program is expected to include the traditional swim program and field trips for youngsters 6 to 16 years old. Arts and crafts instruction also will be part of the program. Participants will be charged a $1 registration fee. No other costs will be necessary for the eight-week class.

Registration will be June 7 at the Venice Recreation Center.

A report was made on the various repairs made to ready the park for summer.

Woods name son Timothy Petri

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wood of Edwardsville became the parents of their second child, a son, born Wednesday, May 12, at St. Mary's Medical Center in Richmond Heights (Clayton), Mo.

The infant has been named Timothy Petri Wood. He weighed seven pounds, two ounces. His brother, Nicholas, is 19 months old.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Petri of Granite City and David Wood of Ferguson, Mo.

Mrs. Alice Vinson of Pinellas Park, Fla., is the great-grandmother.

3 CANNABIS ARRESTS

Jean Marie Baker, 22, of 2410 Bryan Ave. and two juveniles were charged with cannabis possession at 5 p.m. Thursday in West Granite Park. They were released pending hearings, and two cigarettes were confiscated.

Romine places; South, North fail to qualify for State

By ROGER KRAMER

BELLEVILLE—The statistics of the IHSA Class AA District track meet at Belleville East looked particularly bleak for both Granite City North and South—or did they?

At face value, they did. Both North and South failed to qualify girls for the state finals. In fact, both school placed in just one event each.

Both squads finished far behind East St. Louis Lincoln and East St. Louis Senior. Lincoln won the meet with 91 points and Senior was second with 72 points.

By contrast, the Warriors scored three points to tie for 11th place and the Steelers scored just one point to tie for Wood River for 14th place.

However, there is one thing the score sheet doesn't show. Both North and South depended on freshmen to run many of the events. No matter how hard the freshmen try, the more experienced East St. Louis teams are simply too much to handle.

Because of the efforts the freshmen and other underclassmen put in the meet, both South coach Dave McClain and North coach Harry Lang were pleased with their teams Friday.

"We're very, very young, and we're very enthusiastic," McClain said. "We worked hard the last couple of weeks for this meet. Overall we were successful this year, and I was pleased with the overall performances."

"Everybody ran well for us," Lang said. "We set a school record in the 100 hurdles and the 800 and 1600 relays."

Mary Romine was the only South runner who placed. Romine was third in the 1600 meter with a time of 5:37.6 seconds, far off the 5:10.4 second pace of the first and second place finishers.

"I was very well pleased in Mary's performance. She was sick earlier this week and couldn't run both the 1600 and 3200, but she had her best time of the year and set a school record. She's a hard worker and a good competitor," McClain said.

North's 1600 relay, Lisa Kalka, Rachel Coleman, Emily McWhorter and Donna Broyles, was fifth in that event. The girls ran the race in 4:15.1, over 20 seconds behind East St. Louis Senior.

Paula Rozyski finished sixth in both the 100 and 200 hurdles for the Steelers and didn't score points for North, but Rozyski set a school record in the 100 hurdles.

"I thought we would have a chance to place with our 320 relay too," Lang said. "These girls are young, and most of them will be back next year."

"We just lost the 800 on the last couple of steps," Lang said.

In the two relays South entered, the 400 relay and the 800 medley, McClain used freshmen to run each leg of the event.

"It was a good experience for both of those relays," McClain said. Lincoln qualified at least one runner in 12 of the 16 events in the meet. Senior qualified runners in eight events.

TEAM RESULTS

East St. Louis Lincoln 91, East St. Louis Senior 72, Collinsville 17, Edwardsville 15, Alton 13, O'Fallon 12.

Fredbird, Oberkfell headline parade

MITCHELL — Fredbird, the St. Louis baseball Cardinal mascot, and Cardinal third baseman Kenny Oberkfell will be at the annual Mitchell Baseball Parade and festivities Saturday, May 29. The event officially opens the Mitchell Athletic Club's summer baseball season.

Following Fredbird's and Oberkfell's ride in the parade both will pose for photographs.

Heading the parade will be Madison County Sheriff Emil Toffant, truck units from the Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department, color guard from American Legion Post 307, Girl Scouts from Johnson School, two 20-piece bands from musicians locals, a pipe and drum unit, an oriental band unit and a senior citizens' float.

Dignitaries riding in the parade will include Senator Sam Valadabene, Representative Sam Wolf and Joe Lucco.

Parade chairman Gordon "Piccolo Pete" Routh said the parade will move from Mitchell Elementary School east along the Chain of Rocks Road to Greenway Drive and then move south to the baseball diamonds.

Following a brief address, parade queen Tanya Baker will be crowned. Her attendants are Kim Buske and Diana Merz.

In the event of rain, the event will be held at the Mitchell Fire Station.

Trojanette tracksters qualify four events

GILLESPIE — Following Friday's postponed District Track meet in Carlinville due to rain, the Madison Trojanettes managed to qualify for state competition in four events.

The Trojanettes qualified in two relays, the 400 meter and the mile, and speedster hurdler Regina Banks qualified in two events, the 100 and 200 meter low hurdles.

Members of the mile relay team are Gina Griggs, Mia Jenkins, Regina Banks and Traci Parker. The Trojanettes posted a time of 4:19 in the event.

In the 400 meter relay, Rose Clay, Cherri Ware, Johanna Dillon and Jerriann Ware dashed to an excellent finish posting a time of 5:2.2.

Additional district and State track meet information will appear in Thursday's Press-Record.

BANKS ON IT. Madison Trojanette trackster managed to qualify in both the 100 and 200 meter hurdles at the District Track meet Saturday in Gillespie. In addition to Miss Banks, the Trojanettes will send two relay teams to state competition.

Branding named to Select Team

Richard Branding, formerly a goal keeper with the granite City High School North soccer team, has been named to Under 19 Select Soccer team. Branding's name was not included with those printed in Thursday's Press-Record because of the closeness of those athletes competing for the elite soccer team.

Girls' Soccer Expands league

The Madison County Girl's Soccer Association is currently expanding its league in two age groups. Girls interested in learning fundamentals of soccer and participating in a team sport, should take this opportunity to register for these teams.

Girls born in 1973 and 1974 will be meeting Saturday, May 15 at St. Elizabeth Field at 9:30 a.m. There will be a meeting and practice. Persons should plan on being there for one hour.

Girls born in 1975 and 1976 will be meeting and practicing at St. John's starting at 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 15.

Tournaments to benefit Hospice

Two tournaments, an eight-ball billiard and a horseshoe, this weekend will benefit the Hospice of Madison County.

The tournaments will be held at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. According to coordinator

Mike Murphy, the men's eight-ball tourney will be played on Saturday, May 22, and the women's eight-ball tourney and the horseshoe tournament will be played the following day, Sunday.

All events begin at 1 p.m. at Pete and Mary's Tavern located at 2409 Lincoln Ave. A barbeque is scheduled for both days.

All tournaments will be "the best of three" elimination.

Persons interested in registering for either tournament should contact Pete and Mary's Tavern at 877-4270 or Murphy at 877-0533.

North third, South fourth in conference meet

Granite City North's track coach, Harry Lang, expressed "bitter disappointment" in his team's third place finish in the boys' Gateway East Conference track meet last Thursday. Edwardsville, as expected, won the meet with 86 points, Cahokia finished second with 67, North was third with 66, South was fourth with 57 followed by Alhouth with eight.

"Edwardsville would have been hard to beat," Lang said. "But second place was obtainable. We didn't suck up when we needed to."

Warrior track coach Mel Bunting was somewhat happier with his team's performance.

"Our front runners won what we thought they would. Our younger kids

"Edwardsville would have been hard to beat, but second place was obtainable. We didn't suck up when we needed to."

Harry Lang
Steeler track coach

did well too," Bunting said.

Despite South's fourth place finish, the Warriors finished with more firsts and seconds than either Cahokia and North.

The Stealers managed only a single first place finish in the meet. That's not too unusual, because the Stealers have counted on their depth throughout the season to win close meets.

North's Dave Rensing grabbed the Steeler first in a big way. Rensing, who competed in both the discus and shot put events, won the discus, setting a new conference record of 147 feet. He broke the old record by three feet. His performance of 48-feet-3 in the shot put was good enough for a fourth place finish.

Thursday, it seemed, whenever the Stealers made a mistake, or came up short, it was Cahokia who directly benefitted from the Stealers' misfortune.

For example, North's pole vaulter,

Jon Dobler has consistently vaulted near the 11 foot mark. Thursday was a bad day for Dobler. His best vault of 10 feet was good enough for a fourth place finish, but Lang had hoped for a higher finish. A vaulter from Cahokia, who until then had only reached the 11-foot mark, vaulted 12-feet-3, high enough for first place and a new conference record.

In the long and triple jump, it was a Cahokia trackster who again edged out Steeler Alan Pregel of first place.

In both events the Cahokia trackster finished line by a Comanche trackster who edged him out of first place. Cahokia's timewas 3:03.5, one-tenth of a second faster than Schaefer's time of 3:03.6.

If North had been able to finish ahead of Cahokia in just one of these events, it would have been enough to lift the Stealers past the Comanches for second place.

The fact that seven records were set and an additional two were tied, evidence to the level of competition at the meet. Edwardsville led the conference with five record breaking performances. Cahokia was second with three, followed by North with one. South and Alhouth's teams were unable to produce any record breaking performances.

Both North and South will be at Belleville East this Friday for the District track meet. Events begin at 2:30 p.m.

SIUE recruiting efforts continue

EDWARDSVILLE — While most college basketball coaches are beginning to relax and reflect on their recruiting efforts made over the past two months, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville's Head Coach Tom Pugliese has continued to beat the bushes to find the best high school and junior college talent in the Midwest.

After the signing of 6'10" Greg Sizemore of Deerfield, Coach Pugliese has pulled another blue-chipper out of his recruiting grab bag in 6'7" forward Brad Blockell.

Blockell, a product of one of the best AA programs in Illinois, St. Lawrence High School of Burbank, comes to SIUE after an outstanding prep career. As a senior, Blockell pumped in 13.7 points per game while pulling down eight rebounds per outing. Voted the most valuable player at St. Lawrence, Blockell also received the Burbank Kiwanis Athletic Award, and was selected to the Bradley-Bourbonnais All-Tournament team. He is also a former member of the all-star squad from the Kentucky Blue Chip Camp.

Blockell's high school coach, Jeff Prestaniard, feels that the future may be bright for his former center. "Brad is going to be a strong forward in college because of his outstanding inside and outside shooting ability. He has a great touch for a big man, with a good release. With experience, I feel he could develop into a good college player. I look for him to make a strong contribution to the Cougars in the near future."

Following the signing, Coach Pugliese commented, "Brad has the makings of a fine running forward. He has good all-around athletic ability and plays with continuous motion. He is a very physical player and will create many of his own opportunities within our offensive system. He is also from the same program that produced former All-American Steve Poldakas."

Eleven get Red Devil sports awards

Eleven Venice varsity athletes were given special awards at the annual Venice Sports Banquet held Wednesday, May 12, at the Granite City Army Depot. In volleyball, Lynnette Crawford received an award for being named best server. Letitia Miller was recognized for being the team's best spiker, and Lisa Harmon was chosen as Venice volleyball team's most valuable player, best defensive player and co-captain, an honor she shared with Darlene Wigfall.

Eight Venice athletes were recognized for their prowess on the basketball court. Senior Harold Milton was selected as the team's most valuable player as well as being recognized for having the best field goal percentage. Sophomore Eddie Salmond was recognized as the team's best defensive player. William Watts received an award for being first in assists. Keith Marchbanks was recognized for having the best rebound percentage as well as for having the most steals. Archie Gardner was recognized for having the best free throw percentage, and Gary Davis was recognized as the most improved athlete.

Venice
Red Devils

Venice basketball coach Ken Perkins was named the Illini-Gateway conference coach of the year. Last season, the Red Devils were undefeated in the conference, as they posted a 19-7 season record.

Schnefke is football honoree

The United States Achievement Academy has announced Joe Schnefke has been named a 1982 United States National Award winner in football.

This award is a prestigious honor few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than five percent of all American high school students.

Donald Joe Schnefke, who attends Granite City High School South, was nominated for this National award by Jerry McKeehan, South's football coach.

Schnefke will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook published nationally.

The academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upholds the standards for selection set forth by the academy.

Schnefke has also been chosen Scholar-Athlete of Granite City-South High School for 1982. He has lettered in three varsity sports during the past four years: two years in basketball, three years in baseball and one year in football while maintaining a 4.75 grade point average.

He was nominated as a candidate for the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland, has chosen to accept a scholarship at the University of Missouri-Rolla to pursue a degree in Metallurgical Engineering.

Schnefke is the son of Don and Sandy Schnefke of Granite City. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. Coleman of Granite City, Illinois and Mrs. Bessie Schnefke of Monmouth, Illinois.

Smith, Ritchart win at Tri-City

By JOE SENTER
Bo Smith repeated his late model stock car feature win as Scott Ritchart took the Sprint Car big money feature Saturday night.

Bo Smith from St. Charles, Mo., driving his 1982 Firebird No. 57 Sprint Car chassis Sprint Car started 20-lap feature event on the front row outside along side of Dick Taylor of Springfield, Ill.

As the green flag came down, it was the 22-year-old sensation that got to the first turn ahead of Taylor and led all the way to the checkered flag for the $700 first place win.

Smith, driving in his 3rd year, looks like he could be another champion for Tri-City Speedway. Smith is a second generation driver, is a native of Granite City. SWMSU defeated the Cougars 4-3, and went on to win the NCAA Midwest Regional Tournament.

Young Scott Ritchart of Lincoln, Ill. took the $700 first place feature event in the Winged Sprint Cars. Ritchart fresh from a feature win on Friday night in Puttenville, Ind. lost no time taking the lead to the first turn from the front row outside starting spot.

In the final match of the afternoon, North's Mike Lauderdale and Jeff Rush defeated the Tigers' Kip Sorenson and Scott Weisel 7-6, 6-1. The victory

Bass taken from Horseshoe

GRANITE CITY
Gregory McClary of Granite City caught a five-pound Large-Mouth Bass at Horseshoe Lake last week. The fish is evidence that the lake is making a comeback in sport fishing.

McClary caught the fish using a "beetle spin." He was fishing from the bank in the state park portion of the lake. According to a Horseshoe Lake ranger, who verified the weight and length of the fish, it is the biggest fish taken from the lake in six or seven years.

Sports of all Sorts

By AL BARNES

I have been asked many times for my opinion of the sport which requires the most skill from its participants. My response, like most from sports-loving fans, is to cite what, at the time, is the athletic competition then in season, be it football, soccer, baseball or whatever.

One could make a great case for baseball, whose batter has to have the extraordinary skill of connecting his bat with a ball which is travelling upwards from 85 to 100 miles per hour. Man, that takes some skill, it must be admitted.

But, then my mind goes to other skills of men... and women... which defy all reason. Take the skills of those bronzed young men who dive from the cliffs down Mexico way, apparently coldly facing death in each breath-taking leap. I never see a dive without my heart nearly stopping.

Or, the mind-boggling skill of the horseshoe tosser, who scores ringers time after time, as if the tosser is just a robot, or a machine. But, almost as amazing to one who admires sheer skill is the ability of the knife thrower... and the cold courage of his target... to outline his victim to the gasps of his audience.

And, then, to really make you gasp with awe, to do the same thing with a blindfold over his eyes. That's skill. However, some of my friends have somewhat ruined the knife throwers prowess for me by suggesting that part of his skill is, really, done by trickery. Although, not one of the doubting Thomases have been able to explain to me how the knife thrower does his trick, if he does.

For you youngsters, here's one that will blow your minds. Back in the 1920's, the basketball rules permitted a team to select one player to shoot all free throws. From this rule came some really brilliant free-throw shooters with some stories of acuity at the charity line almost beyond belief. Granite City had one of the most skillful: Len Davis who played for Granite City South in the late 1920's. Not only was Davis deadly accurate at the line, but he had a trick that almost defied belief: he permitted himself to be blindfolded and would then proceed to sink shot after shot.

He used the old-fashioned, for now, of course, technique at the line. Using both hands, he'd barely skim the floor of the gym in a scooping motion. I've been told that he once made 86 shots in a row, blindfolded.

Man, that's some kind of skill, isn't it? Another skill to blow your mind is the trick shot artist with a golf club. That's the man who hits, screeching drives, one after another, straight down the fairway off of teed-up balls held in the mouth of a man laying prone on the ground. You'll admit that the man making the drives has an amazing skill, won't you, but the bravery or the fearlessness of his partner is truly amazing. But, the ultimate in skill... and bravery... has to be the woman or man who defies all reason by walking a tight rope over the raging floods at Niagara Falls on a slender thread stretched hundreds of feet from shore to shore.

A news note which stirred great memories was in this morning's paper: Chicago is planning to host another World Fair in 1992, just sixty years from their last one. I was working in the Windy City as a "stringer" on the late and lamented Daily News. Born that year was both the still current All-Star baseball game, but dead is the former professional football all-star (colleges) and pro game at Soldier's Field. What a shame.

Warrior kicker camp slated for June

GRANITE CITY — The final week in June has been scheduled for the annual Warrior Kicker Camp.

The camp, beginning on Monday, June 28, will run through Friday, July 2, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Rockhurst's Tony Tocco will assist Baker with the camp. In addition to instruction by Baker and Tocco, campers will be instructed by professional soccer players yet to be named.

Enrollment of the camp will be limited to 100 campers. Both boys and girls are invited to sign up. Campers will receive, in addition to soccer tips from the experts, T-shirts and prizes during the week-long camp.

Persons wishing to register for the camp should send their name, age, address, and $50 to Gene Baker 1701 Vista Ridge, St. Louis, Mo. 63138.

Further information may be obtained by calling Baker at (314) 385-2074.

A fisherman's guide to knots

By ROLLA WILLIAMS

A knot, as anyone who reads the dictionary knows, is an intertwining, looping, bending, hitching, gathering together or tangling of one or more parts of a plank, relatively slender length of something in such a way as to produce a tying together, fastening, bending or connecting of the length on, to, or with itself, another length, or some other thing. Doesn't everyone know that?

Well, fishermen know, even if they can't give the definition, and what they're interested in is a knot which is easy to tie, fits snugly and won't break at much under the strength of the line.

No knot, of course, ever is 100 percent as strong as the "plank, relatively slender length of something" from which it was fashioned. Tie an overhand knot, for example, and it weakens line strength by 50 percent. Fishing knots are more forgiving.

At the moment, the Trilene knot, developed by the Berkley Line Co., which manufactures Trilene monofilament, seems to be the No. 1 knot among fishermen, strength considered. I don't like it much, since it's difficult to tie and a bit lumpy when the line gets into ocean lines of 20-pound-test monofilament and heavier.

The Trilene shares top billing among fishermen with the Palomar and the Improved Clinch. But these two have disadvantages, too. The Palomar is difficult to tie to tiny trout hooks and almost impossible with trout flies and the Improved Clinch is lumpy, usually.

A friend who fishes trout with flies says he always uses the old-fashioned Turtle knot (some call it "Turtle"). He claims he never loses a fish. Another digs back further into history, tying a figure 8 and adding another, as a jam against the hook eye. He loses few fish, too.

I'm wedded to the Uni knot, at the moment. It's easy to tie and has the further advantage of doubling as a loop knot, essential for some plugs like the Bomby, which need the extra space to work properly. Tighten it strongly with pliers at the proper distance from the tie-on and it will hold till a fish strikes, then only snugging down to be reformed into a loop when the fish is caught.

But, on the ocean, the deckhands favor the reverse Improved Clinch. Tied as they do it, with the point of the hook usually buried in the railing, and the knot, after moistening to make it fit snugly, slid down to the hook eye, it's not at all lumpy, and effective as well. Takes a heavy fish to break it, usually.

How many knots does a fisherman need to know? One good tie-on knot — for flies, hooks, lures — a loop knot in case the plug needs space to "work," the Dropper loop so that leaders may be attached, a knot to splice together broken line or to tie a leader to fly-line, and a knot to join line to a reel.

The Uni knot — "uni" is short for "universal" — accomplishes all of these save the loop to which leaders may be attached.

In addition, it's useful for snelling a hook and for forming a shock leader which sometimes is needed. I like it, too, for one of those sliding knots when you're using two hooks in a big bait.

How about strength? The Improved Clinch and the Palomar are both rated 95 to 100 percent of knot strength, among the highest reading for popular knots. Trilene tests just as highly. The Uni rates 90 to 100 percent for ties to terminal tackle, for loop connection and for double-line leaders; it is 95 to 100 percent for leader-to-line and for shock leader-to-line; it's 85 to 95 percent for joining lines.

I sacrifice a nubbins of strength for stiffness in tying and go with the Uni knot.

Besides knots there are other factors for the fisherman, using monofilament, to remember. He should replace his line at the start of a season and, maybe, reverse it after a few months, if he's only a casual fisherman.

After landing a heavy fish or several lighter but hard-fighting fish, it's well to trim a foot or two off the end of the line and retie.

The fisherman must constantly check his mono for abrasions as he runs it back on his reel. If the line is abraded (fingers will pick up the roughness), he should cut behind the rough spot and retie.

Mended line is not recommended except in an emergency. It's difficult to cast off a spinning reel through the level-wind of a bait casting reel.

Some other suggestions: Store your line in room temperature away from chemicals, water and direct sunlight.

Check and recheck equipment. Successive abrasions usually mean buried guides.

Gateway Nationals slated for June

The American Hot Rod Association and St. Louis International Raceway will host the 1982 Gateway Nationals on June 3, 4, 5 and 6.

This year's event has been expanded to a four day event rather than only three days due to the tremendous response on early race car pre-entries.

Included in the 600 plus entries anticipated to be on hand at this year's Gateway Nationals are virtually all of the sport of drag racing's superstars. "Big Daddy" Don Garlits, Jerry "The King" Ruth, Don "The Snake" Prudhomme, Tom

"The MongOOSE" McEwen, Tom Hoover, John Abbott, Chris "The Greek" Karamelines, John "Brute" Force, Craig Epperley, Frank Bradley, Tom Howland, and dozen more pros. In addition, several hundred sportsman racers will be on hand with a wide divergence of racing machinery in every performance configuration.

New head for SIUE Health Services

Lucille McClelland, former dean of the School of Nursing at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been named director of University Health Services at SIUE.

Mrs. McClelland, who has varied experiences in hospitals, health institutions, higher education and administration, holds a doctoral degree in education from St. Louis University, with concentrations in administration in higher education, research, teaching and human development. She earned a master's degree in nursing education at St. Louis and a nursing degree at Washington University.

As director of a health service, which serves faculty and staff as well as students, Mrs. McClelland said her first priority will be to improve an awareness of the variety of professional services available on the Edwardsville campus.

Staffed by two doctors, four nursing professionals, a health counselor, pharmacist and lab technician, the SIUE health service offers primary care and family planning clinics in addition to emergency, counseling, laboratory, pharmacy and referral services. Her first change will be an extension of health service hours from 7:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Mrs. McClelland said the health service's overall purpose will be to enhance wellness and an acceptance of health as a positive value by the university community, assisting students, faculty and staff in making a healthful adaptation. "When you're well, it gives you an entirely new outlook on life. You have the energy to enhance your potential and realize your optimum physical, emotional, intellectual and social well-being," she said.

Mrs. McClelland, who practices her beliefs with a regimen of "yoga and yogurt," started her nursing career as a clinical instructor at Bellevue Hospital while attending Columbia University in New York, and later served as a clinical instructor for licensed practical nurses at St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis.

From 1961 to 1963, she was nursing administrator at the State Hospital in Jacksonville and director of its in-service training program. The new director also has been a consultant to the Illinois Department of Mental Health and served two terms on the Illinois Health Planning Advisory Council before joining SIUE in 1967. She was appointed dean in 1968 and served until 1974, when she requested reassignment as a professor of nursing.

Author of textbooks and papers in psychiatric nursing and education, Mrs. McClelland also is a member of professional and service organizations and is a consultant for state and local committees and a member of regional and state advisory boards. She is listed in "Who's Who of American Women," the "Dictionary of International Biography" and the "International Who's Who is Community Service." In St. Louis, her home, she has been active in the Council on Human Relations and is co-founder of the Committee for Equal Justice, which assists young people in trouble.

Revenue agents have credentials

Persons posing as employees of the Internal Revenue Service occasionally attempt to harass taxpayers, or collect money for what the impostor claims are unpaid taxes, the IRS said this week.

Taxpayers are advised to request to see the credentials of any individual claiming to represent the IRS. Every IRS employee who makes contact with the public is required to carry distinctive identification and must show this when conducting official business.

Generally, taxpayers who owe money to the IRS will receive written notification before being contacted in person.

Taxpayers who doubt the validity of the credentials offered can verify the person's employment by contacting the nearest IRS office.

AGENT COMPLETES INSURANCE SCHOOL

Cheryl Crawford, a Shelter Insurance agent in Granite City, has attended an advanced personal insurance school at the company's home office in Columbia, Mo. The one-week school is designed to give agents additional training in the kinds of insurance purchased by heads of households.

Package policies for business firms and commercial truck insurance also were covered in the school. She earlier completed a two-week course in personal lines insurance, including auto, life, health and homeowners.

Mr. and Mrs. Pitchford observe anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Verl Pitchford, 2500 Nameki Road, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at a dinner and dance reception held at Sonny and Char's in Collinsville, given by their children.

They are members of Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church. Mr. and Mrs. Pitchford own and operate the Ridgeway Confectionery. He formerly worked as a carpenter and retired 18 years ago.

Mr. Pitchford and his wife, the former Helen Daniels, were married on April 9, 1932, at St. Joseph Catholic Church.

Hosting the social event was their son, Floyd Pitchford of Granite City, and daughter, Mrs. Rose Ellen Edmonds of St. Charles, Mo. The honorees also have six grandchildren.

Out of town guests included Sergeant John Scott Pitchford of New Mexico, Dr. and Mrs. W. Fogarty, St. Louis, George Edmonds and children, Kathy, Chris, Dino and Todd, Mr. and Mrs. Conky Pitchford, Waggoner, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Donald Baird, Fairmont, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mosher, Penco, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Don Stenke, Rankin, Ill., Charles Sadusky, Luerne, Pa., Mrs. B. Bergan, St. Louis, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. M. Pitchford Jr., Fort Meyers, Fla.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. A. Schwartz, East St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Charles Andrews, Fairview Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Knebel, Mr. and Mrs. C. Brown, Edwardsville, Mr. and Mrs. Gwen Kirchner, Edelstein, Ill., Jerles Lipson, Olive, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Vistidine and Mr. and Mrs. Andy Edmonds, St. Louis.

Presbyterian Women observe anniversary

A guest tea, commemorating the 25th anniversary of the organization of the United Presbyterian Women's association of the First United Presbyterian Church was held at the church with 18 of the charter members attending.

Initially the group was known as the Presbyterian Women's Organization and later changed to the UPW. They officially became a church organization on Feb. 7, 1957.

There were 99 charter members and at the present time there are 74 members.

Charter members attending the event were, Evelyn Ackerman, Roberta Browning, Edith Chappie, Bernadine Cooley, Virginia Evans, Lillie Ann Firner, Arline Fox, Irene Haug, Burdine Holtzsch, Ruth Knapp, Gladys Pape, Catherine Parker, Dee Roberts, Thelma Ruppel, Muriel Vehl, Mary Werner, Anna Mae Wetton and Edna Etheridge.

Also present were associate members, Lily Dod, Nan Henderson, Luaders, Dorothy Spinks, Helen Steele, Anna George, Charlotte Thompson and Polly West.

The tea was held in the Fellowship Hall with the Involvement and Action Committee in charge of arrangements. Lillian Howe serves as chairman with Florence Woodward, Virginia John and Betty Schmiedke assisting.

Mrs. Everett (Mary) Butler of the Alton First United Presbyterian Church, was the featured speaker for the day. She gave highlights of events taking place during the past 25 years, including names of several women of the association who served as officers on the Presbyterian Board.

The late Mrs. Alfred T.

Smith served as Synodical President, she noted. Recognition was accorded to past presidents of the local association and those present were given a silk rose corsage.

First president of the organization was the late Mrs. William (Charlotte) Liernan. She was presented with the gavel at the Spring Presbyterian meeting in 1957, the guest speaker said.

Following the program, refreshments were served to members and guests from Troy, Edwardsville, Alton and Nameki women's groups.

The tea table was decorated with pink candles, arrangements of pink roses and a decorated cake in keeping with the spring motif.

Roberta Browning, current president, and Mrs. Ilse Maston, the pastor's wife, poured during the social hour.

Jewelry exhibit at Venice club meet

Cultured pearls, diamond necklaces, rings, earrings and pendants were displayed by J. D. Hudson of Hudson Jewelry Store, at a weekend meeting of the Venice Women's Club held in the Venice Recreation Center.

Hudson spoke on the subject of cultured pearls and used a color film with sound to illustrate his talk given at the annual Mother's Day party, hosted by the club.

Mary Groshong, an employee of Hudson's and club member, gave the commentary and at the conclusion of the program each one present was given a necklace of the 1928 era.

Games were played during the social hour and prizes were provided by hostesses Medames Ann Hartman, Elsie Canner, Hazel Ponzik, Neil Bolling and Mary Alexander.

A special gift was presented to the featured speaker and guests introduced included Genevieve McComis, Edna Cease and Bruce Groshong.

Other members present were Medames Alice Mitchell, Gertrude Carpenter, Bertha Pace, Ruth Canner, Sybil Robbe, Linda Marcus, Maude Lewis, Rhea Madonna Groshong and Grace Grimes.

Mrs. Warfield hosts club

Mrs. Helen Warfield entertained the Robettes Club, Tuesday night, in her home and served a buffet luncheon after the game session.

Prize winners included Judy Gregory, Connie Timiney and Resita Radefeld.

Others attending were Joyce Waller, Jeannette Wilson, Barbara Monroe, Edith Wofford, Kathleen Wofford and a guest, Leslie Dorch.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Jordan

Jordan-Petrosky

St. Mary Roman Catholic Church was the scene of the wedding on April 16 of Miss Lisa Marie Petrosky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Petrosky Jr., 1608 Second St., Madison, and Mark Wayne Jordan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Jordan, 1605 Fourth St., Madison.

The Rev. Frank Kordak performed the double ring ceremony at 6 o'clock in the evening. Organist Mrs. Helen McGarran accompanied Mrs. Bea Schaefer as she sang, "Because," "Sunrise, Sunset," and "We're Only Just Begun."

Mr. Petrosky escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. She wore a full length ivory Schiffl lace gown fashioned with an off the shoulder tulle inset and large lace ruffles which formed the short sleeves.

Her slightly full skirt was designed with a wateau detachable lace train and she wore an open crown Schiffl lace picture hat. Her bouquet was an arrangement of ivory silk roses, peach roses, blue corn flowers and baby's breath.

The bride's sister, Cynthia Petrosky was maid of honor and bridesmaids included Jackie Zimmerman, Diane Gorka, Lisa Bridick, and junior bridesmaid, Rebecca Petrosky, another sister of the bride.

They were gowning in blue or peach polyester dresses designed with blouson bodices and pleated skirts. Each attendant held a bouquet of peach silk roses with blue corn flowers and a white rosary.

Jodi and Christopher Lee, cousins of the bride, served as flower girl and ring bearer. She was dressed in a peach chiffon frock with a ruffle trim on the bodice and gathered flounce at the hemline. She carried a basket of ivory and peach silk roses intermingled with baby's breath and blue corn flowers.

Doug Enricson served as best man. Steve McCormick, Mike Henderson, Keith Jordan, a brother of the groom, Joseph Grimes, the bride's cousin, Mike Faletti and Robert Bush, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

A reception was held the VFW Hall and the rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mrs. Jordan at Hill Euro's Cafeteria. Lois Miller presided over the guest book.

Both the bride and groom graduated from Madison High School. The bride is employed at Olan Mills and the groom is serving in the U.S. Navy. He also attended Lincoln Technical Training School.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Maley Grimes; Mr. and Mrs. Roland Lee; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bloomkamp.

The newlywed couple took a wedding trip to Tan-Tar-A Resort in Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schubert

Schubert-Tompkins

The wedding of Cynthia Lynn Tompkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Bennett, 2036 Benton St., and Charles Scott Schubert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Schubert, 2912 Fortune Drive, was solemnized on April 24 at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony at 3 o'clock in the afternoon was the Rev. Louis Frick. Nuptial selections were provided by Karen Tiedt, pianist, and Debbie Williamson, soloist.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal length white organza gown fashioned in a princess line silhouette accented with Brussels lace on the bodice, high neckline, and long tapered sleeves.

Her slightly full skirt swept into a cathedral train and she wore a Cluny lace camelot headpiece to secure her fingertip veil. She held a bouquet of roses, baby's breath and greenery.

Tonia Robins, the honor attendant, was dressed in a pink gown complemented with a matching lace jacket and she carried a pink floral arrangement.

The bridesmaids, Robyn Lynch, Becky Wells, Christine Gabriel and Erin O'Connell selected identically designed gowns in pastel colors. They held bouquets in hues to match their attire.

Malania Odom served as flower girl and Jason Wehrend was the ring bearer. She wore an ivory frock created with a lace bodice and full skirt, and carried a basket of pastel roses.

Mike Cothran attended the groom as best man. Donald Bryd, Brian Gavin, Mark James, and Danny Benda, were groomsmen.

Alan Schubert, Robert and David Bennett, seated the guests, and Carrie Odom and Dawn Knappe served as candlelighters.

A reception was held in Wesley Hall of the church with Cyril Sturm attending the guest book. Mr. and Mrs. Schubert, parents of the groom, hosted a rehearsal dinner at Roustio's Restaurant in Collinsville.

Both young people graduated from South High School. The bride is employed at Mercantile Trust in St. Louis, and her husband is employed at Schnuck's Market, as a maintenance clerk.

Out of town guests included, Don and Edith Nickle, Robyn Lynch, Phil Odom and Wes Wehrend.

REVERE RIDES

Paul Revere and William Dawes set out on April 18, 1775, to warn patriots between Boston and Concord of the British plan to march on Concord.

Cripps-Starks

Miss Rhonda Jean Starks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley E. Starks, 2661 E. 24th St., and Kevin Glenn Cripps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cripps, 315 Fleming Place, were united in marriage on May 9 at Trinity United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Dale Denham officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with arrangements of white flowers.

Mrs. Wanda Robett sang, "We've Only Just Begun," "I Love But Thee," "Hawaiian Wedding Song," and "Endless Love." She was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Joyce Harris.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a full length white organza Victorian style gown fashioned with long sleeves and a princeline skirt which extended into a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil was attached to a Venice lace covered headpiece and she carried a cascade of white roses, greenery and lily of the valley.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Debra Biggs a sister of the bride, selected a long blue lace dress designed with a ruffle neckline that extended over the shoulders to create short cape sleeves and a gathered flounce at the hemline.

She wore a picture hat with a short veil attached to the back. Her bouquet was an arrangement of blue roses, white rosebuds, greenery and lily of the valley.

Miss Robyn Starks, another sister of the bride, and Miss Karen Rotter, served as bridesmaids. They wore pink and yellow lace gowns fashioned to match the honor attendant.

Their wide brim hats and bouquets were in colors to match their attire.

Tonnie Bazzell and Jeffrey Kraus, a nephew of the groom, was the flower girl and ring bearer, respectively.

She was dressed in a white organza frock in a Victorian style with a high neckline and short lace sleeves. She carried a white fireside basket filled with white, blue, pink and yellow rosebuds and she wore a halo of silk blossoms in her hair.

The groom chose his brother, Richard Cripps as best man. Ricky Williams, Ernie Cuevas, William Gaddo, Dennis Page, Todd Starks and Stephen Kraus, the latter two nephews of the bride, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Miss Karen Cripps, the groom's sister, attended the guest book and Miss Margie Ballard and Miss Sherry Perryman assisted with the reception held in the church fellowship hall.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at Petri's Cafe, on the evening prior to the wedding.

While attending South High School, the bride was a member of the Red Peppers and Junior Achievement. Her husband graduated from North High School and Lewis and Clark Community College. He currently is employed as a machinist for Onco Drilling Tools in Houston, Texas, where they are now residing.

Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Cripps

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Kudelka

Kudelka-Sannes

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Dawn Marie Sannes and Scott A. Kudelka on April 10 at Calvary Pentecostal Church.

The Rev. Harold Maynard officiated at the 6 o'clock ceremony. A program of wedding music was furnished by Karen Tiedt, pianist, and Larry Heagy, guitarist. Soloists were Warren Buster and Tammy Crawford.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. John Sannes, 2877 Northridge, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kudelka, 2025 Lindell Blvd.

Guests were received at a reception held in Englebert Hall, Madison, immediately following the service. Mrs. Kathy Doty attended the guest book.

The bride wore a floor length white Wedgewood lace gown featuring a Queen Anne neckline, long tapered sleeves and bouffant tier skirt that extended into a full chapel train.

Her fingertip veil was attached to a picture hat and she carried a colonial bouquet of summer flowers.

Miss Karen Scannan attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Tami and Kim Sannes, sisters of the bride, and Miss Rhonda Shane, a cousin of the bride.

They wore aubergine and huckleberry color polyester knit gowns designed with shirred bodices, spaghetti straps and slim skirts, complemented with a long sleeve jacket.

Jamie Kudelka and John Kudelka III, a niece and nephew of the groom, served as flower girl and ring bearer.

Scott Voss of Houston, Texas, attended the groom as best man. Groomsmen included Rich Bieker, Golden Eagle, III, John Kudelka Jr. and Jim DeRuntz, of Granite City.

Seating the guests were Danny Tate and First Schinker and candlelighters were Darlene Pate and Sheri Voss.

Both young people graduated from South High School. The former Miss Sannes is employed at General American Life Insurance Co., and the groom works at Ehrhardt Tool & Machine Co.

Following a wedding trip to Houston, Texas, the newweds are now residing in Granite City.

Joyce Hand receives award from publisher

Joyce Hand, 2520 Parkview Drive, author of several poems, received the Award of the Month from The Peoples Bible Publishing Co. in Los Angeles, Calif., for her poem entitled, "A Tiny Teardrop."

She submitted the poetry with another piece of work, "I Had a Dream Lord," and both have been accepted by the publishing company, and have also been set to music.

According to Mrs. Hand the California company will have 200 records and 20,000 copies of the sheet music ready to release in about 10 weeks. The records will be sent to local radio stations and to the stations in Little Rock, Ark., and the sheet music will be available to the public.

The local artist signed a contract with Chaparral Recording Co. in Wollaston, Mass., and they scheduled a recording date of May 4. The music was presented to Pat Boone to sing but he has not as yet confirmed he will be the vocalist.

Mrs. Hand's ability to create religious poems has attracted other groups and the World of Poetry Co. in Sacramento, Calif., contracted with her to include "A Tiny Teardrop" in their latest book of poems.

Also the Morning Temple in Salt Lake City, set another poem, "The Missionary" to music and will use it in their services. Mrs. Hand was notified.

Mrs. Hand signed another contract on March 16 to have her poem, "Dreams," recorded by Songmasters of Nashville, Tenn.

She is a lifelong resident of the Quad-Cities and is a member of the Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints in Fairview Heights.

Ables reflects on Civil War stories

Longtime Quad-City area resident R. D. Ables addressed the May meeting of the Old Six Mile Historical Society, which was called to order by the outgoing president, Ronald Coleman, with about 55 guests and members present.

During a brief business session, the treasurer, Walter Frohardt, reported that the quilt donation project earned about $375 as the organization's first money-making venture. The quilt was officially presented to the winner, Miss Marian Daly, a granddaughter of R. D. Ables.

The slate of recommended officers presented in April was re-read and the following were elected for the coming year: president, Dan Gargus; vice-president, Georgia Engleke; treasurer, Walter Frohardt; recording secretary, Darlene Kahn; corresponding secretary, Barbara Williams and board members, Eldon Outright, Lillian Delois and Mary Jesse.

Mrs. Loraine Bischoff reported that the antique show plans are progressing well and that the first exhibitor contracts will be given out for signing this weekend. The show will be Oct. 23 and 24 at St. Elizabeth Church hall. Advance tickets will be available in the morning at a reduced rate from the regular door price.

Mrs. Engleke expressed her thanks for the congratulations to everyone who assisted in getting Old Six Mile off to a good start this first year.

Coleman introduced Ables by saying that Ables has "made it for 85 years in a row, and he is sure he will make it again. A large group of his family and many friends turned out to hear the stories recalled by the speaker. Ables said his grandfather came from Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1855 after hearing of the many opportunities available in America. After living briefly in Illinois, the grandfather ended up in Stewart County, Tenn., near Dover.

The speaker said he has always been fascinated by the stories of the Civil War that his relatives told him. The Battle of Fort Donelson, lasting three days, sounded like a roaring cyclone, according to the speaker. Ables said he has read all the Civil War histories that he could get and none of them mentioned that a large number of bodies of federal troops were transported to the Mounds, Ill., area for burial. People continued to tell this story, though. Even when Ables came to Illinois in 1917, he was unable to discover any information.

A teacher at Washington School in Granite City told him it was a "foolish" idea to believe it. Finally, to learn for himself, he and two friends, Walter Richardson and Floyd Miller, went to Mounds. The Civil War cemetery was there. There was a monument about 35 feet tall that stated that 3,328 persons had been killed in defense of their country and that every headstone was marked "unknown."

Ables said that from the battlefields of Fort Donelson, he had picked up about 150 pounds of lead which he sold in 1915 during World War I. He also had about a quarter bushel and still has a small bottle of the buckshot in his possession.

When referring to the Fort Donelson battle, he said captured Confederate soldiers were brought to Alton to the first penitentiary built in Illinois. Lacking space, between 5,000 and 6,000 prisoners were locked up and killed just above Alton and almost all of them died during a measles and smallpox epidemic.

This island and the graves now are under water. Some prisoners were buried in Upper Alton, where there still is a large Confederate monument. Footings of the prison are still visible near the four mill in Alton.

Ables said that the Civil War was called "a rich man's war and a poor man's fight." In the South, he said, $350 would enable you to avoid the war. The federal government offered bounties of $500 to German citizens to come to America to fight. At the end of the war, this large group of German soldiers was disbanded at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and a large majority of the men settled in Madison and St. Clair Counties. During World War I, people of Belleville, many with this German background, bought more Liberty Bonds per capita than any other town in the U.S.

The family home of Mrs. Ables was a log cabin Streetcar Line, the McKinley Line and the Interurban Line to Springfield were all important transportation methods. Ables said the Interurban Line ran through the mill by the open hearth and emerged about where the long building on 20th Street ends. It was an exciting trip to get to go to Springfield and Ables made the excursion several times.

Busch Brewery had its famous Clydesdale horses in the area where Sidener Supply now is. Beer was brought from St. Louis by railroad car and the cans were parked on the siding. About 15 spans of the Clydesdales, each horse weighing about 1,800 to 2,000 pounds, delivered beer all day, except Sunday, all over Madison County. The horses were perfectly matched, the speaker recalled.

Ables said the changes that have occurred in Granite City since he came back from World War I are almost unbelievable. When he returned, the working day at the mill was 12 hours long, generally including Sundays. He would work two weeks on days, then two weeks on nights. On the day the shifts changed, he worked 18 hours. He was a shop steward and sat in on many wage scale meetings. He was very complimentary to the management personnel he dealt with during his working years. Briefly mentioning politics, he thinks that Madison County and Granite City have political records that have never been matched. An incident that should be in Ripley's "Believe It or Not" involved Harry Truman, according to Ables. He said that the 23rd Precinct in Granite City cast about 750 votes in the year President Truman was running for re-election. The person tallying the votes got mixed up and it was not until about 7:30 the day after election that the final count was turned in. This margin is, according to Mr. Ables, what elected President Truman. It also caused the precinct to be split into three parts because its size was illegal.

Many other stories involving historical figures and incidents relating to the police force in the local area were related by Ables. His final story involved Davy Crockett, who died at the Alamo. Near Dover, a creek is named for the pioneer. Crockett. In addition, nearly every type of fur-bearing animal that persons learned to hunt named for him, including horses, dogs, fox hounds and coon hounds. Davy Crockett also claimed Dover as a near home, since he was born and raised about 35 miles away.

Ables said someone accused him of not having much formal schooling and he agreed. The truth was that he was the only boy in his family, so he had to stay home and work. His sisters all got to go to school, but in the evening when they studied, he also studied their books.

Ables' presentation was videotaped for future showing on cable TV. He was assisted in his presentation by his daughter, Mrs. Ervin Daly.

6 re-elected as advisors

The importance of proper communication between individuals and societies will be examined in a talk on "The Power of Words," to be given at the Friends of Lovejoy Library biennial banquet, Friday, May 21, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Six Granite City residents are to be reinstated on the group's advisor board at the event. The banquet is scheduled in Meridian Ballroom in the University Center, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Reservations are $8 per person, and the public is being invited to attend.

The speaker will be John Ridor, professor of mass communications at the university and executive director of the Metro-East Council on Interinstitutional Cooperation. The CIC is a nine-member consortium of area colleges and universities. Newly-elected officers for the coming year are: Raymond J. Spain of Edwardsville, president; Mrs. George Arnold of Kersh, Mrs. Charles Kohl and Mrs. A. A. Malotki, vice-presidents; Gordon R. Wood of Collinsville, treasurer; and Mrs. Fred Habbegger of Highland, recording secretary. New members elected to the advisory board include: William S. Alexander, Mrs. James Barton, Mrs. Albert Cassens, Mrs. John Fruit, Mrs. Henry L. Malench, Mrs. Charles Schmidt, Howard Stewart and Mrs. Charles Tarkenton, all of Edwardsville, and Mrs. Ernest A. Stadler of St. Louis. Re-elected advisory board members from Granite City are Burton Bernard, Mrs. Earl Glenn, Mrs. James M. Stinson, 1-692-2711.

Project links schools, training, jobs in county

Linkages Education, an Employment Exploration Program (LEEP) was explained to Granite City Rotarians on Tuesday by Mrs. Shirley Binsingame, director.

Known as Linkages in Progress, the program is designed to promote educational and training services for Madison County youth. The current second-year model is an expansion and dissemination of last year's pilot program in this community.

The Madison County regional superintendent of schools and Co-Ordinated Youth Services are jointly sponsoring it. The Madison County Office of Manpower Development, Madison County Community College, Madison County Unit School District No. 9 and Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission are working with the program sponsors to accomplish particular work goals.

The program has goals for potential school dropouts, involving educational improvement and familiarization with the employment sector on a personal basis.

It was designed to facilitate progress toward the attainment of a high school diploma or GED (General Educational Development) while enhancing the employability of those served in the program. Mrs. Binsingame said, "Local employers have proved to be competent and effective instructors. The employers have stressed good work ethics and the importance of an education with a strong grasp of basic skills. These concepts have been instilled in the participants, enabling the program to achieve its intent," she commented.

"The goals include: (a) promoting long-range development opportunities for area youth; (b) generating continuing interaction between regional educational programs and CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) programs; and (c) learning how to best achieve cooperation and interaction for career and mutual growth."

"The program has the support and assistance of an Advisory Council. Representatives from high schools, vocational programs, CETA programs, area employers, youth service organizations, and community interest groups participate on the Council."

"The Advisory Council serves as the focal point for information sharing, problem exploration, and mutual problem-solving. This is accomplished by holding periodic meetings, publishing a monthly newsletter, and developing workshops for secondary school teachers and counselors on vocational curriculum development."

"Staff support is provided by the Office of Manpower Development. We try to promote messages among education, training and employment systems for the ultimate benefit of area young people and the economic health of the community."

"In order to accomplish the goal, the three systems are 'linked' in the following manner: "Linkage Step 1 - "The second year is an expansion of the year-one CETA and Education Linkage Step 1. "The program involves alternative training for CETA eligible youth. "The program is conducted by Co-Ordinated Youth Services of Granite City and involves participants from Madison, Venice and Granite City alternative education programs. "Goals include the development of a positive attitude toward work and education in students who have not been able to adjust to typical educational settings. "Groups of four CETA participants and one instructor provide the basis for an intense 120-hour skills development program. "Through the cooperation of employers, local business people serve as instructors to the students at their business sites. "Teachers in participating schools district attend in-service workshops on how to replicate the pilot program. Dissemination will be at regional and state levels."

"Linkage Step II - "An eligible handicapped component in the Granite City School District is included in the second-year program. "The objective is to develop and implement a job-readiness program for high school and J.V. students. "CETA participants enrolled in a career awareness class are involved in work observation and work experience for two hours a day, in six-week cycles for one semester. "Various on-campus training sites are utilized for these instructional purposes. "Linkage Step III - "The purpose of the Energy Careers component of the Madison County Federal Savings and Loan. M. E. This image shows a vertical, narrow strip of aged paper or parchment. The material is light-colored with a mottled texture, featuring numerous dark spots and streaks that indicate significant water damage, mold, or general decay over time. The edges are irregular, frayed, and show signs of being torn or broken apart. The strip is oriented vertically and is set against a dark, solid background. There is no legible text or other markings visible on the strip.

GET RESULTS

A Eulogy to DAD

GEORGE N. SCHWAGER

One year ago a great man died. He left a void in our corporation. He wasn't a national political figure. He wasn't a baseball or football hero. He was a great man. He was my father and he died. He believed in and did simple things... He made sure we had the best food to eat. He did great things for his people. He taught us to believe in ourselves. He was a friend to us all, an enemy to none. He also did crazy things. He roared for the Chicago Cubs. He beat his friends were Bud-weiser and Jack Daniels. He was a hero in a sense. He did great things in the war. He was a humble man, never sought notoriety. He was a proud man. I'm proud of the way he lived. I'm proud of the way he died. I hope you are, too. I never told him. I never told me. I've sold it a hundred times since he died. It probably now is a thousand times more. I love you. My mother, our dad and my best friend gone. But never forgotten.

SADLY MISSED

By his wife Betty, John L. Carol, Mike, Rosie, Tom, Jan, Bob, Sally, Cindy, David and Mike Schwager, and all grandchildren.

Food and the American way of life

By JOHANNA DWYER
(Fifth in a series of 15 articles exploring "Food and People.") In this article, Johanna Dwyer, a nutritionist at the Tufts Medical School, discusses how we can eat more healthfully and enjoy it. Copyright (c) 1982 by the Regents of the University of California.

Americans have long prided themselves on their high standard of living. Many of us assume that our affluence has brought us better food and better health than almost anywhere in the world.

It therefore comes as a shock to realize that some other countries may be enjoying better health than we are.

For example, despite recent advances in curative medicine, American death rates from coronary heart disease are still five times those of Japan, triple those of France, twice those of Italy, and a good deal higher than rates in Denmark, Sweden, Germany and Belgium.

We are also fatter than many of our peers in other industrialized countries. And our overall life expectancy is lower than in several other nations.

The explanation for these differences in health does not lie solely in our genes. Rather, the environment of abundance in which we live fosters habits that do violence to our health.

Our American way of life, with all its advantages, also provides us with maximum temptations and low-cost opportunities to eat, drink and smoke too much, while we lead increasingly sedentary lives.

Our lifestyles encourage us not only to eat too much, but also to eat the wrong kinds of foods for our health. For example, we spend nearly one-fourth of our food dollars on meals and snacks away from home, especially at fast-food establishments, which frequently feature foods high in calories.

Nearly half of the money we spend for meals at home goes for convenience and processed foods, which are often high in fat, sugar and salt.

Improving our health. Fortunately, we are in a position to improve our health without radically changing our lifestyles.

New findings from a major study of heart disease prevention conducted at Stanford University show that modest changes in how we eat, drink, smoke and exercise, which are very much in line with most of the ways we like to live, can reduce our coronary artery disease.

Those who have succumbed to unhealthy eating habits are not necessarily unwilling to change their diets. But they find it difficult to choose wisely from our abundant food supply.

Our supermarkets, for instance, contain many thousands of items. Little wonder that consumers are confused.

Furthermore, when they do decide to change their diets, they often listen to the wrong advice.

Too often it is fad diets, promoted by extremists in the nutrition profession as well as by self-styled experts, that capture media attention — precisely because they are so outlandish and demand such unnecessary sacrifices.

Fad diets play on the misconception that healthy diets, like strong medicines, must be unpleasant to be successful.

Most also cater to our desires for "quick fixes" to long-term problems.

In actuality, some fad diets are dangerous because they lack essential vitamins, minerals and other nutrients; most don't work; and all are inconvenient — good reasons for avoiding them.

Moreover, fad diets fail to change long-term eating habits for the better.

In contrast, the real experts recommend rather simple — and far less sensational — steps for improving our health.

They call for gradual changes rather than a headlong rush into a new way of eating. And they emphasize enjoyment rather than a lifetime of pleasure prohibition.

Four principles — enjoyment, variety, balance and moderation — are all that are really necessary for eating the healthy way.

A variety of foods. Eating a variety of foods assures an adequate supply of all the necessary nutrients.

Each of the major food groups is a particularly good source of certain nutrients and should be included in the diet.

Bread, cereals and grains, for instance, are good sources of starch, most of the B vitamins, and iron.

Fruit, especially citrus fruits, provide vitamin C. Dark green vegetables supply vitamins A, C, B-2, acid, and iron and magnesium, while starchy vegetables and beans also provide protein and vitamins B-1 and B-6.

Milk products and cheeses are essential sources of calcium and of several vitamins, including vitamin D. Meat, poultry, fish and eggs provide protein, phosphorus, iron, and B vitamins.

Unless prescribed by a doctor, vitamin and mineral supplements are unnecessary.

Thanks to American abundance, food technology, and marketing, it is possible to obtain a broad variety of foods throughout the country.

Balance. Balance is important to assure adequate amounts of starch and fiber in the diet. Whole grain breads and cereals, vegetables and fruits are high in one or both of these constituents, and many are also low in sugar.

The proper balance of nutrients is also important for maintaining desirable weight.

Cutting back on calories from the energy-rich foods — fats and oils, sugars and sweets, and alcohol — is the easiest way to control weight.

Of course, eating smaller portions of other high-calorie foods and increasing physical activity also help maintain weight.

Because most of us expend little physical energy at work, it is important to increase everyday physical activities such as walking and climbing stairs, as well as to include vigorous activities we enjoy — tennis, hiking, running, swimming — in our regular routines.

Moderation. Moderation insures against overconsumption of any particular food component.

For most Americans, particularly those who smoke or have high blood pressure, cutting back on fat, saturated fat, and cholesterol intakes is sensible.

This can be done in part by choosing lean meats and by substituting lowfat or nonfat dairy products for those rich in fat.

Since foods high in fat also tend to be high in calories, cutting back on these foods also helps to control weight.

Moderation of our use of sodium is also important. Salt has been linked with high blood pressure, and most of us consume far more than is necessary.

We should learn to enjoy the unadorned flavors of food and to eat sparingly of highly salted snack foods as well as pickled foods, cured meats, and condiments.

Over half of the sodium we eat is "hidden" either as part of a naturally occurring food or as a seasoning or preservative that has been added.

Reading labels on packaged foods can help us to avoid excessive sodium. In moderation of alcohol is also wise. Alcoholic beverages are usually high in calories and low in other nutrients.

For those who really enjoy alcohol, one or two drinks a day don't appear to cause any major harm in adults. But for most people it is easier to maintain weight and avoid a habit that may lead to excess — by making it a more occasional habit.

Finally, it makes sense to moderate sugar use. Many foods that are high in calories are also high in sugar and fat while they are low in protein, vitamins and minerals.

We can avoid excessive sugar by using the sugar bowl sparingly and choosing of these constituents, and many are also low in sugar.

We can also eat less of such "high-calorie" foods as candy, soft drinks, ice cream, cakes and cookies.

Notice that it is not necessary to deprive ourselves totally of the foods we enjoy. Good food and the American way of life need not be incompatible with good health.

All that is necessary is modification of our eating and exercise habits in line with that oldest of American virtues, common sense.

If we can take these steps and keep in touch with our physicians for any additional medical measures that may be called for, there is a good chance for dramatic improvements in our health in the next decade.

firm working on canal banks

A contractor is engaged in reclamation work along both banks of the Chain of Rocks Canal.

The firm is working 10 hours per day, Monday through Saturday, with a switchboat, a barge-mounted dredge and rock barges.

Work is expected to continue for 30 days, until mid-June, between stations 2.0 and 3.7 above Granite City Locks No. 27.

Vessel operators are being requested to reduce speed in the area of the contractor's operations and to use caution when passing the contractor's floating plant, according to James A. Petersen, chief, Operating Division, St. Louis District, Army Corps of Engineers.

MORGAN FAIRCHILD
Hollywood's
ice maiden

By GUS STEVENS

Morgan Fairchild is emerging as one of Hollywood's new-generation stars, a high-profile part of the new wave of celebrity power.

If this is so, then Film City could be in big trouble. If the blond and torrid Fairchild has acting talent, her directors have not yet unleashed it on her audiences.

This woman is not your basic Hepburn, Stanwyck or Stapleton when it comes to emoting in front of the camera. She has the inner warmth of the Bering Strait.

What she is a sharp-nosed Suzanne Somers without a sense of humor. Or an Ann Jillian who doesn't know how to sing and dance.

Fairchild, fair of hair and curvy of figure, became a star in the NBC soap "Flamingo Road."

Fairchild came very close to stealing the Academy Awards show. She didn't do it with wit and sparkle, but with a blue strapless evening gown that plunged deeper than the market on Black Friday.

Reminded that she is fast becoming the perfect sexy ice maiden in the hearts and minds of fans, Fairchild has a quick comeback:

"I am secure about who, what and where I am, so a label doesn't bother me at all. In fact, I find it funny that some people do think of me as a sex symbol of the '80s."

The notion of Fairchild as a sex symbol is so hilarious that she's making a fortune on it in her role as Constance Weldon Carlyle in "Flamingo Road."

The producers and directors of that swamp soap opera have a good idea of what Fairchild does best, and they exploit it week after week. The scripts must not be confused with the stories of Tennessee Williams.

"Flamingo Road," in its second season, loves to have Fairchild climb into black underwear, or white silk pantsuits, or loosely tied bathrobes, or red blouses and tight white pants. All this to demonstrate her superb acting talent.

The series is set in the fictional town of Truro, Fla., which the NBC press agents describe as "a Pandora's box of family and town secrets and impassioned power plays — instigated by a few, yet affecting many residents..."

belly of a gator."

You have to wonder if the South will rise again to protest this deep-fried saga. Among other after-hours soaps like "Dallas," "Falcon Crest" and "Dynasty" this one should be called "Chillins" or perhaps "True Grits."

Fairchild may think she knows all about the South, since she comes from Texas, a state with one foot in the Confederacy. Still, when she talks in the real world there is no trace of a hometown (Dallas) accent.

NBC reports that when Fairchild was little she dreamed of being a paleontologist working in the Gobi Desert, which is about like Dagmar wanting to be an atomic surgeon. Fairchild's dream woke up fast when she turned 14 and became a finalist in the Miss Teen-Age Dallas contest.

She was a winner in a state where they still take beauty contests seriously.

Fairchild studied drama at Southern Methodist University, moved to New York to do "Search for Tomorrow" for seven years, and then to Los Angeles, thoroughly grounded in soap-opera acting.

Fairchild guested in "Dallas," "Happy Days," "Barnaby Jones" and "The Bob Newhart Show." She made a couple of theater movies and she also appeared in "The Dream Merchants," a four-hour television production based on Harold Robbins' soap-opera novel.

Even as she murders the Southern mother tongue, making the Mason-Dixon line seem higher than the Berlin Wall, Fairchild insists her talent is genuine.

"I've worked hard for many years," Fairchild said, "but because of the way I look, people just assume I'm just another blonde who's where I am because I have the right look at the right moment. But I'll tell you this, I'm here to stay."

Hollywood Hotline

Conboy likes to think big

By NANCY ANDERSON

HOLLYWOOD — "You can take beautiful pictures in Hong Kong and go to NBC," John Conboy says. "People don't applaud waterfalls."

His comment is more than a put-down of the third-place network. It's a reason why the producer's new daytime drama, "Capitol," set in Washington, D.C., will actually be shot there only four times a year.

Otherwise, production will progress in Hollywood. As someone once observed, "A rock is a rock. A tree is a tree. Shoot it in Griffith Park." "Capitol" introduced in prime time over CBS March 26, has now joined Conboy's hot "The Young and the Restless" as a daytime staple and includes most of the ingredients which make the older show popular.

Lust, intrigue, greed and other mouth-watering, expressions of human nature. However, it has one ingredient no other soap opera can claim, the wife of an American ambassador within its cast.

Constance Towers, a star of the new show, is married to John Gavin, ambassador to Mexico.

Nobody can accuse Conboy of thinking small. Did he try to cast Nancy Reagan?

While he won't admit to that, he does say that he'd love to lure Tip O'Neil into a walk-on or even into a bit role, and the same applies to numerous other senators.

In addition to Towers, "Capitol" lists among its stars Ed Nelson, an alumnus of the first prime-time soap opera, "Peyton Place," who sees in the new venture a quality which, he believes, contributed heavily to the "Peyton Place" success.

"We not only have good scripts and tasteful people in charge," Nelson says, "but we have a combination of young, new actors and veterans."

"It would have been very hard to have turned this down."

Ed confesses that he would have found it hard, not just because he thinks "Capitol" will be a smash, but because "it's almost impossible to work in episodic TV. ... The industry has changed so much."

"After doing a guest role in a hit show, say 'Lou Grant,' you come home with $90 after sitting opposite an actor who is getting $20,000 for doing less work. It's bizarre."

There's distressingly high unemployment within the Screen Actors' Guild, Nelson points out which, he charges, the current president, Ed Asner, ignores.

"Now you're getting political," smiles Carolyn Jones, another star of "Capitol" who fits into the "veteran" group.

A few years ago, says Jones, she wouldn't have done a daytime drama no matter how high its quality.

"Because if you did daytime drama, other producers wouldn't hire you for anything else. The same was true for commercials."

But those bad, old days are gone, she says. "Now soap opera is basically the summer stock of films."

In joining the "Capitol" cast, Rory Calhoun, also a veteran, is beginning his second project in a row for CBS having recently played Gen. Meade in Bruce Catton's "The Blue and the Gray" to air next fall.

"This is giving me a chance to do two things I've never done before," is his explanation of how he landed in "Capitol."

"I'm doing a soap opera, and I'm playing someone suspected of being a communist."

Rock goes for the light touch

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — Even before ROCK HUDSON's new NBC TV series, "The Devlin Connection" goes on the air this fall there has been a change in concept, with the star asking for an infusion of light comedy into the characters and stories.

Hudson fans will recall that the series, which cast him as a private investigator who finds himself in partnership with his long-lost son, was slated for this season. But Hudson had bypass surgery on his heart and the series was put on the back burner for 1981-82.

The actor feared that the way the series was set up, viewers would think it was a rip-off of "The Streets of San Francisco." What they will see this fall is closer to "McMillan and Wife," the series which gave Hudson a TV hit.

JACK SCALIA still is cast as Hudson's son. What will happen to the four episodes that were filmed before Hudson's surgery is not clear. Presumably they will be scrapped.

ALAN ALDA is bracing himself emotionally for the end of "M-A-S-H," which will film its final episodes in September. Work on this year's "M-A-S-H" has ended and Alda is off making a film. When that's done, he'll get to work with the writers on the final episodes of the series.

Thanks to two industry strikes, there are other "M-

A-S-H" episodes on the shelves, and there will be a total of 16 available next season. That will include two hour-long shows designed to tie the storyline to the end of the Korean War. CBS will have the option to run the hours as four 30-minute episodes, or as a two-hour special, or as two one-hour shows. The network will look for maximum ratings coverage, of course. Look for the Korean War to end next February.

JOHN TRAVOLTA and OLIVIA NEWTON-JOHN, who made a big splash together in "Grease," will be reunited on the big screen. They've reportedly agreed to do a musical entitled "Stairway to Heaven," but hold onto your hats and $5 bills — it's only in the "development stage." In Hollywood that can mean anything.

It's a teeny-bopper's delight. Three teen idols — SCOTT BAIO, LEIF GARRETT and TODD BRIDGES are expected to go before the cameras next month in a feature film entitled "Hi-Jinx." The film is set at a Bronx High School and is based on the real-life exploits of director JIM-MIE KOMACK.

And speaking of movies, SEAN CONNERY has given his tentative approval to a James Bond project that would be loosely based on "Thunderball" and previously unpublished writings by Ian Fleming. Connery is perhaps the most famous of the actors who have portrayed Bond, but this move will put him in direct competition with ROGER MOORE, who has taken over the role in recent years.

Watch out you fans of the film "Airplane!" The creative team that put that blockbuster comedy together will not be involved in "Airplane 2!" which Paramount is putting together. The film company has other writers in tow.

ANNE ARCHER and FRANK CONVERSE have been signed to star in an upcoming NBC series "The Second Family Tree," which is produced by the same folks who brought you "Family" on ABC a few seasons back. The series focuses on a divorced man with a young son and a divorced woman with three children, including a deaf son, who marry and try to make a go of it as a family.

Who is SCOTT SCHWARTZ and why is everyone talking about him? The 10-year-old from New Jersey has been snagged, after a cross-country search, to play JACKIE GLEASON's son in "The Toy," a feature now in production. RICHARD PRYOR also stars.

Is that J.R. EWING on the campaign trail? That's what voters in Texas are asking.

LARRY HAGMAN's brother, GARY, is running for state Senate in Texas on the Republican ticket. Hopefully, he's a nicer guy than J.R.
